Wet and Dry News
Selective Maternity

MR. SUSSMAN chucked Mrs. Rosenberg under the chin and later, in court, offered this explanation:

"I didn't have the nerve to come here this morning, so I went to get a couple of shots in me. The place I usually go to was closed and it took me the better part of an hour to find another one. I got me two shots. I guess I did go to Mrs. Rosenberg's store and maybe chuck her under the chin."

THE judge said: "You have told a straightforward story," and let him go.

So far as known, the judge did not ask him where he got his "two shots" or send a policeman to find out about it. That will grieve prohibitionists.

THE province of Ontario, dry for ten years, has gone wet. At that news American "wets" cheer up—but without reason.

The Canadians can change their laws; prohibition is not frozen into any constitution. But here it would take 36 states to take out of the Constitution the prohibition that was so foolishly put in. And nobody now living will see 36 states vote to remove the prohibition amendment.

BILLY SUNDAY says he will run for president as a dry if Governor Smith, a wet, is nominated by the Democrats, and the Republicans nominate nobody but an out-and-out prohibitionist.

One thing is certain: With Mr. Sunday in the White House the United States would have four years without a fight in it.

SOME ONE suggests selective maternity, no woman allowed to have children unless willing to give up her entire time to them and "forego society."

That is not a good idea, if what you want is good children with power. The famous Olympia didn't exactly "give up society" or devote her life to her maternal duties, and she had only one child, but that was Alexander the Great.

You think sometimes, for a short period, that a king, emperor or dictator might be useful even in a republic.

When Peter the Great, barely out of his teens, found that Russia had no ships, he built some, that never could travel, in a lake, for practice and amusement. Then he worked as a mechanic in a Holland shipyard, according to the story. Everybody probably knew he was an emperor. But he learned how to build a fleet, as he built St. Petersburg on a swampy cold river, by will power.

We may not be "quitters", but we are something like the man that said: "I'm a game guy, but I know when I'm licked." We seem to be "licked" a good deal of the time.

44 Children Will Form Honor Guard For Santa Claus

Interest of Little Folk in Marion City and County Spreads and Intensifies as "Biggest Day of Year" Nears

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR CHRISTMAS TREE

Chorus of High School Students and Local Music Clubs Will Sing Carols About Evergreen in Central Junior Yard

INTEREST in the visit of Santa Claus to Marion next Tuesday reached the highest point so far in the schools of the city and county today.

The occasion for the increased interest was the selection of the 44 children who will form a guard of honor to ride with Santa Claus next Tuesday, when he makes his first visit to Marion. The children, who are selected by the teachers and principals of the schools, are all to be under eight years of age.

This ride with Santa Claus will mark a high spot in the lives of the children who are selected to form this guard of honor. They will have the distinction of being among the group who are to ride with him in the parade here on Tuesday afternoon.

Arrangements for the huge Christmas tree that will form the central part of the celebration Tuesday night, have all been made. The tree is being furnished by Fred Berg. It will be decorated with lights by the United Electric Supply Co. and the C., D. & M. E. Co. will furnish the electricity for lighting the many colored bulbs.

Sing Christmas Carols

It is around this tree that the citizens of Marion, and all the visitors from the farms, villages and cities around this city will gather next Tuesday night to sing the well known Christmas carols. Santa Claus will be there during the singing. While Santa Claus is making his visit to the Children's Home Tuesday afternoon the Eskimos who travel with him will go to the tree on the Central Junior High school grounds, and set up their igloo there. This will give all the children a chance to see how these Eskimos live in their own homeland, and to see the young Eskimo who travels with his father and mother.

The program for the singing around the community Christmas tree has been arranged by the committee in charge. This committee is Ernst C. Carl, Howard Temple, Miss Marion McNeal, Mrs. Opal Durnell, Miss Margaret Williams, J. M. Crimm and Ellmore Miller.

At the meeting of this committee in the office of County Superintendent of Schools C. B. Rayburn last night, it was arranged to start the program at 7:30 p. m. This will give ample time for all the children to have seen the Eskimos, and for the visit of Santa Claus to the Children's Home, for the

U. S. TROUBLES IN NICARAGUA JUST STARTING

Sacasa Reviving Liberal Revolution Despite Presence of American Ships

Washington, Dec. 2 — American troubles in Nicaragua, instead of being ended by the elevation of Adolfo Diaz to the presidency, appeared today to be just beginning.

Despite the presence of American marines along the coast, despite American warships patrolling Nicaraguan waters and despite the warnings of the State Department, Dr. Juan Sacasa has revived the liberal revolution and there has been severe fighting within thirty miles of the American forces.

An ugly situation may easily develop. The sympathy of the Mexican government is with the Sacasa revolutionists, and they apparently have been fairly well-equipped with arms and ammunition of Mexican origin, for there is an embargo in effect from American ports.

Supports Diaz

The State Department is supporting President Diaz. He was, in fact, inducted into office under the auspices of the State Department's representatives at Managua. He has formally asked the State Department to maintain him by "whatever means" it considers necessary. To date, those "means" have been the continuance of American armed forces in Nicaragua for an indefinite period.

Whether the American forces will actually engage the Sacasa revolutionists, if they appear to be getting the upper hand, remains to be seen. It was said at the State Department that the traditional American policy in such cases was to refrain from taking sides in actual hostilities—but officials there would not say today that the occupational forces would not go to Diaz's aid if it was necessary.

The Nicaraguan situation is serious enough of itself. Taken in conjunction with the controversy with Mexico, it becomes increasingly more so.

CHAPLIN AND HIS WIFE STILL ARE FAR APART

Rift in Comedian's Domestic Affairs Shows No Sign of Closing

Los Angeles, Dec. 3—The rift in the affairs of the Chaplin family showed no signs of closing today.

Following a party given by Mrs. Chaplin to a group of friends in her home early Tuesday morning, which included the Baron and Baroness Mille de Precourt, Mrs. Chaplin left her home and took her two children to the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Corry.

A disagreement between the film comedian and his wife precipitated this move.

Mrs. Chaplin reiterated today:

"I will never return to my husband's home."

Chaplin countered with a terse legal notice to newspapers that he would no longer be responsible for his wife's debts.

Although neither Chaplin nor his wife manifested any desire to discuss the incident which led to their separation, it has become known that the motion picture star objected to the noise made by his wife's guests on the morning of the dispute between them.

"RUBE" BENTON CHARGED WITH STABBING MAN

Cincinnati, Dec. 3—A warrant charging cutting with intent to kill was sworn out in police court here today against John C. "Rube" Benton, former pitcher for the Cincinnati Reds and a hurler last year for the Minneapolis American Association team.

The warrant was issued upon the sworn statement of Joseph B. Murphy in which he declared that Benton stabbed his brother, William G. Murphy, Columbus, following an argument over [illegible] gambling debt.

GIRLS' BODY IS FOUND, NATION SEEKS SLAYER

Victim Attired in Clothes She Bought for Wedding to Student

Prairie Du Chien, Wis., Dec. 3—While authorities were preparing today to conduct a post mortem examination of the body of Clara Dorothy Olson, 22, a nationwide search was begun for Erdman Sanford Olson, 18, her alleged slayer, for whom a murder warrant has been issued.

Olson is a wealthy Gale College student.

Meanwhile, Sheriff Harry Sherwood of Crawford County was speeding toward Chicago, enroute to Dwight, Ill., to view a youth held there, who is said to answer the description of Olson.

The body of Clara, covered with a thin, sarcophagus-like coating of dried clay, lies in a local undertaking room. It is fully clothed—in the same blue silk dress, the new red sweater and the grey coat she had purchased for her tryst with Erdman that fatal evening of Sept. 9.

They were to have been her wedding garments.

Grim-faced farmers filed into the city today from the hills and lowlands of the surrounding countryside, all eager and waiting to hear the report of the autopsy, but it was announced the autopsy will not be held till tomorrow. Awe and a certain vague fear was written upon their bronzed faces. They are unused to tragedy. Death in Crawford County usually is a natural act of God.

OHIO COLLECTORS MUST PAY TAXES

Gregg Holds They Are Not State Employes And Therefore Not Exempt

Washington, Dec. 3—Ohio tax collectors must themselves pay taxes, Solicitor A. W. Gregg, of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, ruled today.

Gregg held that compensation received by collectors of delinquent taxes in Ohio is not exempt from federal income taxes. The collectors in a number of Ohio counties insisted that they were state employes and therefore exempt from federal taxes. The bureau held, however, that the Ohio law does not create an office of tax collector, but merely confers on the county treasury the power to appoint a person to perform a part of his duties.

SIMPSON CALLS MRS. HALL "COLD BLOODED MURDERESS"

END OF FAMOUS MURDER TRIAL NEARING TODAY

Prosecutor Making Summation to Jury; Body May Get Case Late Today

BULLETIN

Courthouse, Somerville, N. J., Dec. 3—The case went to the jury in the Hall-Mills murder trial at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon, after Judge Charles W. Parker had delivered his charge to the jury.

Somerville, N. J., Dec. 3 — Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall was referred to as a "cold blooded murderess" by Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson in his impassioned summation to the jury in the Hall-Mills case today.

He declared she and her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, killed Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills during a row in De Russey's lane on the night of Sept. 14, 1922.

"That fatal night Mrs. Hall may have had no idea of murder," said Simpson. "She simply was going to the lane to confront them with the letters they had exchanged and say, 'My dear, this has to stop.'

"But there was a row. I don't know what happened exactly. Perhaps it was done with Hall's revolver. And her brothers were there, with her. I don't say this woman on trial committed the murder herself, but she was there."

Regards Him Coldly

Mrs. Hall, attired in black and very pale, sat between her two brothers and regarded the prosecutor coldly. Not once did she change expression.

"Justice was lynched in the investigation of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills and the whole world knows it," Simpson dramatically declared, "and for all I know, justice may be lynched again."

But Simpson told the jury in a ringing voice, one remarkable thing has been accomplished by the state: Wealth has been brought to trial for murder in this county.

"Wealth may not be punished this time," he cried, "but wealth and its satellites has been put on trial for murder."

Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, one of the three defendants, lowered her eyes. Her brother, Willie, glared at Simpson. Henry Stevens sat erect in his chair, inscrutable. Simpson, a dapper and energetic figure as he pranced before the jury, now and then pounding the table, mercilessly flayed the authorities of Somerset and Middlesex Counties, who he charged, failed to do their duty four years ago.

Calls Case "Cover-up"

"It was a cover-up", he snapped. "The case was covered up. In 1922,

TWO CREWS CAUGHT IN BLIZZARD ARE RESCUED

Men Land at Sault Ste. Marie Suffering from Hardships and Exposure

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Dec. 3—Forty-five men who made up the crews of two of 40 vessels caught in a blizzard which swept Lake Superior Tuesday, were landed today at Copper Harbor. The men are suffering from hardships and exposure.

They were saved by the Eagle Harbor coast guard after their steamers, the City of Bangor and Thomas Maytham, were driven ashore by the gale.

Thirty-eight other steamers which are fast in the ice above the Soo may be released by tugs today.

NO TRACES ARE FOUND OF ALEXANDER HILL IN FRANTIC NIGHT SEARCH

Aged Retired Kirkpatrick Farmer Wanders from House Thinly Clad

The family of Alexander Hill, 70, well-known retired farmer of two and one-half miles south of Kirkpatrick, today were frantically engaging the cooperation of the citizens of Marion and cities in surrounding counties in a search for the aged man, who has mysteriously disappeared.

Eighteen hours of constant searching the immediate neighborhood where Hill resided with his son, Delphus and family, had failed to reveal one clue that would lead to the missing man's whereabouts, it was reported at noon today.

While his daughter-in-law was busying herself with the preparation of last evening's meal, Hill wandered from the house, leaving by a rear door. That was the last time that he has been seen.

He wore a denim jacket and dark blue trousers. He wore no overshoes or vest. He has only one arm.

When it was discovered that he was missing from the family circle, calls were immediately sent to adjoining neighbors and eventually the whole countryside was notified of his disappearance.

Search Organized

A crowd of between 100 and 150 men and women congregated at the Hill farm and instigated an organized search

TOLEDO'S FIREBUG STARTS TWO MORE

Apartment House and Restaurant Fired With Boxes of Rubbish, Chief Declares

Toledo, Dec. 3—Toledo's visitation of incendiarism, attributed to the firebug who terrorized the city for weeks, was continued here early today when attempts were made to burn two more structures.

The Oneida Apartments, a 20-family building, was fired with a box of rubbish and the restaurant of John Lee was set ablaze in a similar manner.

Fire Chief Lawler, whose men brought the flames under control with comparatively slight damage, declared that the evidence indicated both fires were started by the pyromaniac, held responsible for a series of recent fires here.

INDUSTRIES IN MARION REPORT BRISK BUSINESS

Factory Conditions Here Best in Several Years, Survey Discloses

Industrial conditions in Marion at this time are the best that have existed here for several years and the outlook for continued prosperity in local factories in 1927 is equally encouraging.

This gratifying news is based on information regarding the situation in practically all local industrial plants and especially that of the Marion Steam Shovel Co., where the number of men employed is the largest in approximately 10 years.

The force at this factory, including office and plant, now totals over 2,000, an increase of 350 since July 1, when business at the plant began to move on the upward grade following a quiet period of several months.

Will Continue, Claim

There is every indication that this condition will continue throughout 1927. Ray R. King, general superintendent of the company, states yesterday. Orders for the larger types of shovels are coming in steadily and this business, together with the work of construction for spring delivery, is practically certain to maintain production at its present figure, he says.

The working force of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. reached the highest point in its history in 1910, when approximately 2,500 men were employed. The production at this time, however, is greater with a force of 2,000 than during the 1910 peak period, due to increased organization efficiency and installation of improved modern equipment. The mechanical equipment of the local plant is said to be ranked among the best in the country.

Following 1910, the next highest em-

The victim is described as having dark hair, gray eyes and being about five feet, four inches in height. A large diamond ring was on her finger. Her companion disappeared after reporting to the hotel clerk that his "wife" was ill.

Carlton Virden, 18 Believed To Have Committed Suicide

Marion Youth, Formerly of Meeker, Leaves Note in Car at Crystal Lake Park Giving Reason for Ending Life; Blames Excessive Worry

FIREMEN AND POLICE SEARCHING LAKE BOTTOM

Student at Marion Business College, Said by Relatives To Have Grieved Over Death of Father; Had Financial Troubles, Claim

CARLTON VIRDEN, 18, of 631 Miami-st, until two days ago a resident of Meeker, is believed to have committed suicide by drowning himself in Crystal Park Lake, north of the city, yesterday afternoon or last night, and the lake is being searched by local police and firemen today in an effort to find his body.

Despondency over the sudden death of his father, Howard Virden, a year ago at Meeker and over financial troubles is believed to have driven the youth to self destruction. Relatives say that he had been so keenly saddened over the passing of his father that his former cheerful nature had changed completely.

"I don't believe that Carlton had smiled since the death of his father," one relative said today.

Young Virden drove the family car, a Ford sedan, to Crystal Lake park, the machine being found on one of the park driveways early this morning by C. H. Bower, 407 S. Main-st, a cousin. Mr. Bower went there before daybreak after he and other relatives, assisted by local police, had conducted an all-night search for the boy.

Find Note

Finding the abandoned car but not being certain that it was the one owned by the Virden family, he returned and notified other relatives. About 8 o'clock Mr. Bower, accompanied by Chief of Police Thompson, D. S. Miller of 385 Herman-st, an uncle of the boy, and a Star representative, drove to the park and the machine was identified as the one driven by young Virden. On the front seat of the machine was the following note, confirming the fear that the boy had taken his life:

"A purely suicide act because of excessive worry. Blame no one except myself. Every one tried to make it pleasant for me but it was useless. Carlton."

On the front seat with the note, which was written on a slip of thin cardboard, was the boy's purse, containing his photograph and a $10 bill.

Circle Lake

Following finding of the note, Chief Thompson and his companions circled the lake in search of the body but without results. Fire Chief McFarland and two firemen were then summoned to the lake with grappling hooks and other equipment for dragging the bottom, if necessary. It is believed that use of this equipment will not be necessary, however, as the water is sufficiently clear to enable searchers to see the bottom at any point. The search is tedious work, as the lake is large and police and firemen are covering the entire area in row boats.

The officers worked two hours in a futile attempt to locate the body and then abandoned their search until after the noon hour. The work was resumed shortly after 12 o'clock, Chief of Police Thompson being firmly of the belief that the body would eventually be found in the lake.

Young Virden was last seen about 12:30 yesterday afternoon when Mr. Bower, driving to the store of the United Electric Co. where he is employed, passed the boy in his machine at the intersection of Center and Main-sts. Their cars were only a few feet apart but the boy, waiting for the signal

PATRICK HANLEY TAKEN SUDDENLY BY APOPLEXY

Veteran Erie Employe Stricken While Walking with Granddaughter

Patrick Hanley, 71, veteran Erie employe, died suddenly of apoplexy at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon while walking on W. Center-st with his granddaughter, Mary Margaret Cusack.

He was removed to the Dingler barber shop, where medical aid proved futile. The body was then taken to the home, 315 Leader-st.

Mr. Hanley, who was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church Holy Name Society, Catholic Knights of Ohio, and the Erie Veterans Association, was born in Tipperary County, Ireland, in 1855. He was the son of the late Ellen Kelly and John Hanley. He came to this country at the age of 15 and had been a resident of Marion County for 53 years. His marriage to Margaret Drew took place in 1881. He had completed his forty-first year of service as an Erie car inspector Dec. 1.

Surviving are his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Edward F. Cusack, 315 Leader-st, Mrs. C. J. O'Keefe of Youngstown, three sons, George A. Hanley, 431 Silvertt, John F. Hanley of Columbus and Emmett M. Hanley of Atlanta, Ga. One brother, Thomas Hanley of Sidney, Australia, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Burtley of Limerick, Ireland, and three grandchildren, Mary Margaret Cusack, Mona O'Keefe and Jack Hanley also survive. Two daughters, Ellen and Mary, preceded him in death.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

RUBBER FIRMS POOL FUNDS TO HIT MONOPOLY

Score of Largest Auto and Tire Concerns To Break British Grip

New York, Dec. 3—A score of the largest and most powerful automobile manufacturers and rubber manufacturers of the United States today were banded together in a gigantic rubber-buying pool aimed to break the monopolistic grip of England on the world's supply price of raw rubber.

Arrangements for a joint purchasing fund credit of $40,000,000 was negotiated with the National Bank of Commerce of New York and the International Acceptance Bank.

The plan, known to have been under consideration for several months, was attributed to Charles B. Seger, president of the United States Rubber Co. While unwilling to discuss the plan in detail, Seger intimated that the pool funds would be utilized for purchases of huge stocks of crude rubber at times when the market is favorable.

Can Buy 50,000 Tons

Other large manufacturers associated with the United States Rubber Co. in the pool were the General Rubber Co., B. F. Goodrich, Goodyear, Firestone and Fisk Rubber Companies, General Motors, Studebaker, Willys-Overland, Dodge, Packard and other automobile manufacturers.

It has been estimated that the syndicate would have a purchasing power of 50,000 tons of crude rubber annually.

SHEEP CLAIMS WORTH $2,846 ARE APPROVED

Commissioners Certify Amounts to County Officers; Payments Scheduled Dec. 7

Approval of claims for sheep killed in Marion County during the last year was given by the county commissioners at the meeting yesterday.

Claims amounting to $2846.50 were approved by the commissioners. These claims have been certified by the commissioners to the county auditor, and claimants may get the amount of their claim at the office of the auditor on next Tuesday, Dec. 7.

There were 62 claims filed for sheep killed and injured during the year. The claims ranged from $5 to $177. C. F. Drake Claridon Township filed the claim for $177, for 16 sheep killed and eight injured on Feb. 10, 1926.

The fees allowed the witnesses and appraisers in the sheep claims amounted to $87.85. Two witnesses must view each flock damaged by dogs and appraise the damage and report to the commissioners. In one case this year three witnesses made reports.

$2,694 Balance

A balance of $3,694 was reported in the sheep fund before the county commissioners passed on the claims for this year. The claims are paid from the fund created by the selling of dog licenses.

This is the first year that the claims have been paid only in December. Up till this year the claims have been settled twice a year, in June and December. A new law fixes the time of settlement for December only.

There will be no funds available to distribute to the humane society or the county schools this year, after the sheep claims are settled. The law provides that a balance of $1,000 must be maintained in the sheep fund by the commissioners, and after the settlement of claims any amount over this balance may be distributed to the humane society and county schools. The settlement of claims will drop the fund below the $1,000 limit.

POLICE SEEKING BURGLARS SEEN IN LOCAL HOME

Howard Disbennett Chases Intruders; One Hurt in Collision with Piano

Police are conducting a search for two men who attempted to burglarize the home of Howard Disbennett, 491 Evans-rd, early Wednesday morning, and who were halted in their efforts when Mr. Disbennett awakened and drove them from the premises. In making his escape with Mr. Disbennett in close pursuit, one of the men crashed into the piano in the living room and was evidently seriously injured, blood having spurted from his wounds and drenched the furniture and carpet in the room.

Police have made thorough inquiries at the local hospital and doctors' offices where it is thought the man might have gone for treatment but thus far have failed to obtain any clews.

The intruders entered the home through a living room window and made their escape over the same route Disbennett, although unarmed, almost succeeded in capturing one of the pair as he plunged headlong through the open window.

Disbennett, who is an employ of the Pollak Steel Co., is usually employed at night and it is thought that the burglars surmised that he would be absent when they invaded his home. They were in Disbennett's bedroom at the time he awakened and brought their robbery attempt to a close.

The large amount of blood lost by the injured man during the brief period that followed his collision with the piano and his escape through the window leads to the belief that one of his arteries was severed.

One might some time, hope to devote a whole day (twenty-four hours) to not feeling indignant about something or other.

ANTIOCH HEAD TALKS BEFORE KIWANIS CLUB

Aims of School Explained by Dr. Arthur E. Morgan at Noon Luncheon

The aims of Antioch College, at Yellow Springs, were explained in a talk by Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, president of Antioch College, at the meeting of the Marion Kiwanis Club Thursday noon at Hotel Harding.

Education in general was discussed by Dr. Morgan in leading up to his main point. Antioch College has become known throughout the country in the last decade through the many innovations in educational work started there. The changes in the general trend of educational work Antioch has anticipated and made part of its regular curriculum, with the result that it is regarded as the leader in its particular field.

"As far as education in general is concerned, the complaints registered against it by many persons today are of small consequence," Dr. Morgan said. "Compared to the educational system in vogue 5 years ago, he said, there is no comparison. The schooling given our fathers and grandfathers, he stated, can in no way be compared with that being given the young folks of today."

The complaint against the present trend of education is an evidence, Dr. Morgan believes, of the conflict between the old and new schools of education. And it is because the new school of education is getting results that it is criticized by those who did not have its advantages, he said.

"Education was first simply a desire to preserve the past," Dr. Morgan said. "This has been the foundation of all education until 100 years ago when slowly the thought began to crystalize in the minds of educators that education should be a means of preparing for the future, as well as giving the student the benefit of the studies of the past.

"The conflict between the two ideas in education comes from the belief that one generation can learn from the experiences of ther past generation. This is not true, he said. There is no mental telepathy by which the mind of one generation can be charged with all the wisdom and experience of preceding generations. Actual experience alone can give that basic knowledge of life that students must have to live and work.

"So modern educators are striving to teach in a way that will start students early on this patch of accumulating experience. They must learn to do for themselves the thing that the old school believed could be learned simply from books. The spread of education throughout the world resulted in the establishment of the classical course firmly in schools and colleges.

"The establishment of a new school of thought in education, in which work and experience were the basis, brought about an entirely new line of study and teaching. These two lines, the classical and the well-rounded, practical ones, have never been completely merged. That is what Antioch College is striving for, to provide a course of study that will give as many of the classical school students the best of the old school, and enough of the new as will furnish him a sound foundation of knowledge on which to build his life."

Dr. Morgan told of the co-operative work done at Antioch, whereby each student spends five weeks in school and five weeks in an office or factory. He works in the line of work he has chosen.

Before going into educational work, and becoming president of Antioch College, Dr. Morgan was one of the best known hydraulic engineers in the country. He was in the employ of the government for many years, and worked on many of the large reclamation projects in the west. He said he went into educational work because he was interested in it, and has found it the most fascinating work he has ever undertaken.

Junk is a lot of old stuff kept around the house for ten years, hoping that it will become of some use; then it is taken to a rummage sale where it is sold to somebody who keeps it for ten years more.

...time there are four town... the county which have no ... of the Peace and all of the ...ships have courts which handle only a small amount of business, consisting of only a few cases each year. Difficulty has been experienced for a number of years in inducing residents of the townships to take the office and efforts along that line will probably be completely abandoned when the local court is in full operation and prepared to handle a large volume of business, is the general belief.

The only justice of the peace courts expected to continue are those located in the several villages in different parts of the county, the number of cases coming up at these places being sufficient to warrant the election of a resident jurist.

The new Municipal Court will have jurisdiction throughout the entire county and should the City Council provide the judge with an adequate number of assistants it is anticipated that he will have no difficulty in handling cases coming from all parts of the county.

It is estimated that at least 4,000 cases, including both civil and criminal proceedings will come before the new court from Marion Township alone. This estimate is based upon the volume of business now handled by the mayor and the two local justice of the peace, all of which will be transferred to the Municipal Court. Investigation has shown that the Springfield city court handles on an average of 8,000 cases annually and the number here will easily total half that figure, local officials say. This business will be considerably augmented should the predicted abandonment of Justices' courts throughout the county and transfer of their cases to this city eventually develop.

PREPARATIONS UNDER WAY FOR TRIAL OF PAT

First of Three Defendants in Murder of Mellett To Be Heard Monday

Canton, Dec. 3—Although there still was a possibility that the trial may be delayed by a last minute legal maneuver by the defense, preparations were under way here today to start the trial of Pat McDermott, the first of three defendants indicted for the murder of Don R. Mellett here Monday morning.

A motion by the defense to take the deposition of two brothers of McDermott, the first of three defendants indicted for the murder of Don R. Mellett here Monday morning.

A motion by the defeuse to take the depositions of two brothers of McDermott, residents of Nanty Glo, Pa., was to be ruled upon by Common Pleas Judge Edwin W. Diehl prior to the beginning of the trial, and if the motion is granted it may necessitate a postponement.

Strong opposition to any further delay in the McDermott trial will be voiced by Prosecutor C. B. McClintock, who goes out office at the end of the present year, and who is anxious to try the case before his term expires.

Trial to Draw Crowd

A record crowd is expected to attend the trial, if it starts on schedule, and preparations have been made to accommodate about 1500 spectators and more than a score of newspaper correspondents. A force of special bailiffs will maintain order in the courtroom. The trial is expected to last more than two weeks, with possibly 100 witnesses being called.

McDermott, together with Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner, is under indictment for murder as the result of the assassination last July of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton News. Mellett was shot as he got out of his automobile in the rear of his home, after attending a social affair at the Molly Stark Club, in Canton, with members of his family and friends.

One of the odd phases of this old life of ours is that the fellow who gets tied to a star usually lands in a terrestrial divorce court.

We see that Turkey has abolished polygamy and established divorce courts. The home no longer is safe, it seems, even in what once was poor, benighted Turkey.

Senator Fess is reported to have said: "We will enforce the eighteenth amendment if it takes the army and navy to do it." We had about concluded that the ten-cent meals were responsible for the falling-off in enlistments and the increase in desertions, but now we're guessing some more.

"A further drop in the level of the Great lakes may be anticipated," says the Vancouver Daily Province. "Chicago has started a 'clean-up' campaign to stem the crime wave." It seems to us that were the campaign conducted along safe-and-sane lines it would have a tendency to raise the lake levels.

Statistics go to show that there are but 19,697,832 motor vehicles in the United States, but it's going to be mighty hard to make us true aristocrats of the land believe it.

One reason why the Fall-Doheny matter is not now attracting the attention it did during the senate hearing may be that the court is eliminating the buncombe customarily injected into investigations by senate committees.

We are naturally tender-hearted and sympathetic, and wouldn't want any premature fatalities even among them, hence we hope somebody will break the news gently to our Ohio tax-eaters that Oklahoma has a woman broom corn inspector, and thus spare them the shock that the sudden knowledge that they had overlooked anything in the job line would naturally cause.

Operated Six Months at a Profit.

President A. C. Dalton, of the Emergency Fleet corporation, makes the decidedly surprising announcement that the United States lines have yielded a profit on operations between May 1 and October 31 of the present year of $1,622,896.01. There have been months when the United States lines have been operated profitably in years past, but this is the first time when there has been profitable operation over so long a period. During the month of October this service resulted in a total profit of $132,965, and as the budget provided for a loss of $79,388, the surplus for the month was $212,353. Even the Leviathan, which is the only ship of her class in the service and thus greatly handicapped, made a profit of $8,540 for the month, where the budget anticipated a loss of $61,045 on her October voyages.

The American Merchant lines also showed marked improvement. Since the vessels of this line have been fitted up to carry a limited number of passengers their receipts have picked up steadily. It was anticipated that on the four voyages of the line ended in New York in October there would be a loss of $30,334, whereas the net loss was but $2,547.

Of course, the period from May 1 to October 31 is easily the most profitable of the year. Not only is the great summer season traffic on, but the summer rates, which are somewhat higher than the winter, also are in operation. It can not be anticipated that the operation of the United States lines for the months preceding and following this period will show sufficient returns to keep the balance on the profit side of the ledger for the present year, but a profit over even the heavy traffic season is so unexpected that it is bound to cheer all believers in a great American merchant marine. Such a showing by the lines, considering the handicaps under which the service is operated—handicaps which we have previously pointed out—is encouraging. So marked a gain in the favor of travelers may be taken to indicate the financial success of the operation of the lines were they able to offer weekly sailings of six-day boats as do their competitors. As it is, it shows the growth of the favor in which the United States vessels are held by the traveling public.

Tipping Abroad and at Home.

We read a long story in a New York paper, one day this week, concerning the extreme vexation of Europeans over the break-down of the plan to meet the tipping evil by making in hotel bills a service charge of ten per cent. It was held the system had been rendered futile by the added tips of lavish American tourists. The alleged cause of the break-down sounds reasonable, for Americans frequently tip beyond all reason, but we aren't absolutely sure that American travelers are wholly at fault.

The plan, it has been stated, resulted from the complaints of the Hotel Servants' union that no dependence could be placed upon travelers for the reason that some tipped and some did not, and the union urged that to meet this situation a charge of ten per cent. be added to the hotel bills, and the revenues from this source be divided among all the hotel employes, in fixed proportions, at regular intervals. The idea was approved and adopted by the hotel managements in France and Italy, and given a try-out, but it did not work. It is to be questioned of, in France, there was thought at the time of its adoption that it would work, so long have the French servants of all kinds made a practice of holding out the hand. In Italy, hotel employes took the plan seriously. In many Italian cities, waiters would tell guests offering them tips that service was included in the bill, but such was not the way of the French. Despite the service charge, the traveler who failed to tip for the first meal got decidedly delayed and inferior service at the second, and the service deteriorated more and more the longer he remained at a hotel and neglected to tip.

The French railway porters and dining-car help not only expect tips, but also demand them if they are not forthcoming. A fee above the regular charge is expected by porters at the railroad stations. The taxi driver looks for his pourboire. So do the starters and door men at hotels. Inside the hotel, the porters who handle the baggage, the valets who look after the rooms, the maids, the laundry girls, the elevator man, the bell boys, the waiters, the wine men, the bus boys, the boys with the hassocks to be placed under the feet of the ladies at tables, the head waiter and the maitre-d'hotel—who is the hotel steward and is in charge of the dining-hall and restaurant—all expect their bits. And when the guest leaves the hotel he is expected to fee the concierge, the porters, the door men, the boy who opens the taxi door and about everybody else in the vicinity. This is not true of all the hotels-de-luxe or some of the hotels of the higher class, but it applies very generally to French hotels. At the opera or the theater, there is a repetition of the performance. The starter, the hat girl, the program girl, the usher, the aged woman who opens the door to your box—all expect a coin or two as an evidence of good will, and often they will wait with hand outstretched until they get it.

But there is the other side of the proposition. Excepting the hotels-de-luxe all over Europe, practically all the higher-class hotels of Switzerland and all the hotels of Holland, hotel rates are so low in continental Europe that the traveler can tip on a ten per cent. basis in addition to the service charge and still the far under the cost of similar service in the big cities of the United States. And there is this difference in addition, the continental waiter will, as a general rule, be pleased to receive a tip upon which a waiter in a New York hotel would look with scorn.

And when all is said, the tipping evil in the hotels and restaurants of our great cities and particularly in those of New York City has been developed to a stage unthought-of in Europe. Any visitor, by way of illustration, who has made three or four purchases in a New York store, all of which have been delivered at his hotel at the same time, and has had them delivered at ten or fifteen minute intervals by three or four different bell-hops, will get what we mean regarding the New York system, which is in a class by itself.

So there is little occasion to commiserate with Europeans over the breaking down of their service-charge plan. It was something of a fraud, so far as benefit to the traveler was concerned, from the first. And let us not virtuously assume that this annoyance in traveling is confined to Europe alone. Dollar for dollar, we suffer more from the tipping evil here at home in America than we do when traveling aboard and usually we get far less in return for what we thus expend.

The minister who is conducting the campaign to get President Coolidge to pardon the Rev. Albert S. Gregg, of Cleveland, serving a twenty-two month sentence in Atlanta prison for sending obscene matter through the mails, refers to Gregg as "one of God's noblemen." We don't believe it. It would indicate too great carelessness of selection.

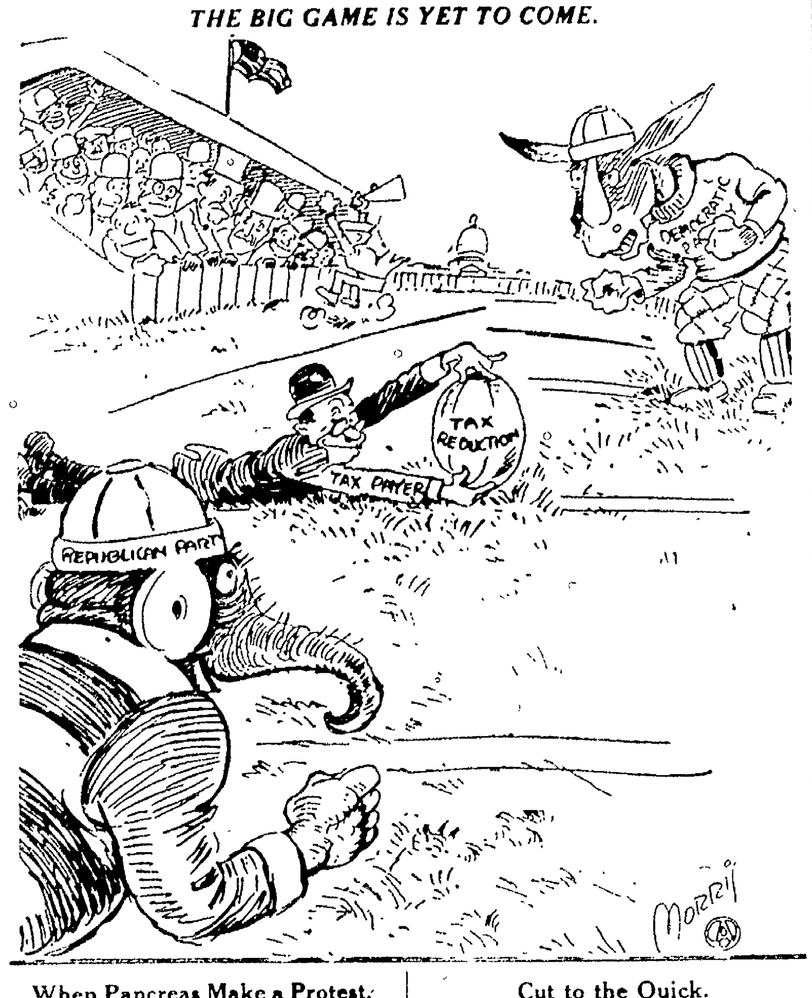
A Washington exchange says "books are written to show that modern young people are assuming dangerous liberties." We have sometimes thought that a lot have been written more or less recently to lead them on to still greater.

Basing our conclusion on our observation of political methods for something like half a century, we take these raccoon and bee stories emanating from the White House as contributory evidences that there may be something in the suspicion that Mr. Coolidge has selected his ideal candidate to succeed the present occupant of the presidential chair.

Despite the fact that we have given the matter earnest consideration, we confess that we are yet unable to decide whether the better course would be to sell tickets on the installment plan or have the banks establish football ticket saving clubs.

The Republican senatorial candidate up in Maine received better than a two-to-one vote over his Democratic opponent defeating him by a majority of over 18,000 in a total vote of 79,720, and yet the defeated candidate proposes to contest the election. It's hard to understand on what ground unless he figures that the vote should have gone unanimously against him.

THE BIG GAME IS YET TO COME.



When Pancreas Make a Protest.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

You probably never knew you possess such an organ as the pancreas.

But you do.

It may be described as a long and thin gland lying under and behind the stomach, just a little to the left side. It produces a liquid secretion. This is called the pancreatic fluid. The pancreas empties into the intestine very close to the point where the stomach contents pass into the intestinal canal.

The food on leaving the stomach is almost immediately mixed with the bile produced by the liver and with the fluid from the pancreas. The chief value of the pancreatic fluid is to dissolve such particles or masses of food as have not been liquified by the stomach juices and the churning of that organ.

The juice from the pancreas does more than this. It helps to convert the starches we eat into sugar which can be dissolved and made useful to the body. The lean part of meat and the curd of milk, as well as the glutinous part of cereals, are liquefied by the pancreatic fluid. The fats, too, which have become an oily mixture in the stomach are digested and emulsified by the pancreatic juice.

In this work the bile is helpful, too. It also has much to do with preventing decomposition in the intestines. It stimulates the bowels and promotes their contraction.

After the bile and pancreatic fluid have liquefied and prepared the food, it is in a form capable of being absorbed by the blood. It could never do us any good if it remained in its solid form. The food to be useful must be dissolved.

This information makes it clear to you how important an organ the pancreas really is. Even though you never knew you had such a structure, it has been working for your good every day of your life. When it stops working you are in trouble.

One of the ailments which may involve the pancreas is called "pancreatic insufficiency." This means, of course, that the organ is weak and does not perform as it should.

It is bad for us if the pancreas does not perform its function. Immediately we begin to lose the nourishing value of certain foods. They pass through the body, undissolved and unready for absorption by the blood.

The pancreas is liable to inflammation, both of the acute type and of the chronic. These cases are not common and not easy to diagnose.

Just as gall stones may form in the gall-bladder, so may stones form in the pancreas. The symptoms are very similar to those found in the more common ailment, gall stones.

Fortunately, attention to the simple rules of personal hygiene and proper eating will leave you unlikely to have pancreatic trouble.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Somebody whose name has not been made familiar by outstanding achievement wants Americans to rewrite their alphabet. He thinks we could say just as much with fewer letters in our words.

Most of us accept a few of the simplified words. We spell "cigaret" without the unnecessary "te" at the end and we omit the final "ue" from catalog. But we balk when these advocates of a simpler alphabet want us to change our name. We won't spell George "Jorj" or Rose "Roz."

If the simplification edrocates could make every person who has a message for the public put it in words all of us could understand he would deserve a monument. Radio announcers, congressmen, editors and reporters are guilty of using long indefinite words when shorter words would be better.

I ate breakfast this morning in one of those typical city lunchrooms where they abbreviate the American language without reference to professors and language experts. "Bowl zup," "Buttrd tost" and "Rost bif" are some of the orders to the chef.

The collarless men next to me were recalling some of the times they had gone without food as they drank their coffee and ate sweet rolls with enjoyment such as many a rich man in this town couldn't get from the best dinner he could buy.

"Wonder what they'd do if we didn't pay," speculated the younger man. "I went in a swell joint out in Omaha this summer. My bill came to $3.15 and I didn't have a cent. They had be arrested, but I didn't care. I tell you I was starving.

"But the manager of that joint was a real guy. He came down and paid my fine and then gave me a job."

I don't know who that Omaha restaurant man is, but I am sure that the Christmas spirit isn't just a December affair with him.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

I always hate to see a fellow grow up too serious. He's likely to take himself seriously if he keeps it up, and then there's no telling what might become of him. When a guy gets so serious that he can't see a joke and can't bear to have other folks have a good time, it's time to call in a grave-digger to look after him.

Well, there was a serious guy on one of those here ocean liners, and he was all the time bothered because there was some young folks on board that danced and laughed a good deal. Some youngsters just naturally will dance and laugh, you know, and all that makes some of the serious parties awful sore.

So he had complained to the stewards and the stokers and the purser several times about the light-headed carryings-on, but nobody had paid much attention to him. Finally, some inspector or other was going around examining the folks at boat drill, and he was showing some of these girls how to put on their life preservers.

"You don't have to give them flappers no life preservers," says the sour guy.

"Why not?"

"They're so darned light-headed that they'd never sink below the chin," he says.—Copyright, 1926.

Vagrant Verse.

DIRECTIONS FOR A TRAVELER.

Then to the right. You can not miss the turning:
The river folds a mountain in its arm,
And at this season there'll be brush fires burning,
And golden stubble stretching, farm on farm,
Trout rising. A grouse drumming. The low thunder
Of wagons on the bridge, and far away
The silver silence that is kin to wonder—
Where dreams the bay.

Now, this is something—to have known the savor
Of marshes when the misty sedge is dim;
The strange breath of them, and the pagan flavor
That clings to memory as a chanted hymn.
Yes, you will love my marshes. The swift sally
Of teal above the rushes, and the slow
Flight of the heron when the purple valley
Floods with the afterglow.

Gray house beyond the dunes. The clean beach shelving
To a green tide that whispers as it comes,
With black boats in the broken water delving.
And the deep resonance of ancient drums.
Knock once, lad. They are kindly folk and cheerful.
And there are braided rugs upon the floor—
Though years ago, I mind, her eyes were tearful—
Knock once, and swing the door.

There all the stars are nearer. There the treasures
That the sea brings are yours to ponder on:
There kelp-fish are, and the unreckoned pleasures
That I remember now . . . such as the dawn.
A gray house past the dunes. Lad, there'll be laughter!
They'll set the kettle on and brew your tea.
And in the driftwood glow that follows after . . .
Perhaps they'll speak to me.

—Ben Hur Hampman.

Some Questions of Interest Asked and Answered.

Q. Is the National cathedral higher than the Washington monument? M. B.

A. The height of the central tower of the cathedral is 262 feet. The ground upon which the cathedral stands is 400 feet above the Potomac river. The top of the tower is therefore further above the river than the monument is.

Q. Are there any cannibals in the world today? V. L. S.

A. Cannibalism still exists in some tropical countries, but is limited to the area comprising the country ten degrees north and south of the equator. It is found among isolated South American tribes, in West Equatorial and Central Africa, the Malay archipelago, certain South sea islands, mainly in Melanesia, and in parts of Australia. Head hunting tribes are found in Madagascar.

Q. How many islands are there in the Philippine group? J. J. A.

A. There are 7,083 islands, of which only 2,441 are named. Total area of the archipelago is 115,026 square miles. The Philippines are mountain ranges rising out of the sea, and the islands are connected with each other and with the East Indies by submerged mountains. Part of the land is volcanic in origin and there are a dozen active volcanoes. The general trend of the mountain range is from north to south, but there are innumerable rugged spurs which cut the larger islands into many isolated sections. Coral reefs fringe the shores, of which there are altogether more than twice as many miles as on all the coasts of the United States. In the largest islands there are a few rivers, but they have rapid descent and except near the sea, are navigable only by rafts.

M'DONALD ASKS USE OF CARE IN MAKING RAIDS

Officials Going into Private Homes Doing So at Own Risk

Columbus, Dec. 3—Advising them to be cautious and to exercise the best judgment possible, State Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald today warned his staff of inspectors that if they participate in raids on private homes, in search of illicit liquor, they must do so at their own risk.

Contrary to current report, McDonald did not issue an order prohibiting further raids on private homes by his inspectors, it was stated.

McDonald directed attention of his inspectors to the recent jury verdict at Cleveland awarding State Senator George H. Bender $25,000 damages against William J. Patrick, one of McDonald's inspectors, who took part in a raid on Bender's home, but found no liquor.

In view of this verdict, McDonald said it is extremely dangerous for his men to make any more raids. He urged them to be very careful and to feel sure of their ground before taking part in any raids.

Officials of McDonald's department today frankly admitted that, under the circumstances, a number of inspectors will prefer not to make any more raids on private homes, fearing damage suits.

ARGUE INJUNCTION TO HALT RELEASE

Columbus, Dec. 3—Oral argument was to be submitted here today to the State Supreme Court relative to the application of Prosecutor C. B. McClintock, Stark County, for a permanent injunction preventing the release on bail of Ben Rudner, from the county jail at Canton, pending trial.

Rudner, Louis Mazer and Patrick Eugene McDermott are under indictment charged of murdering Don R. Mellett, editor of Canton Daily News, July 15, last.

Chief Justice C. T. Marshall, of the State Supreme Court, last Sunday granted a temporary injunction restraining Common Pleas Judge Edwin W. Dahl and Clerk of County W. S. Schick, at Canton, from releasing Rudner under bond.

McClintock contends that the Stark County court has no power to fix bail for Rudner and that persons indicted for murder are not admissible to bail.

USE DOUBLE BOILER

When you want scrambled eggs to be particularly delicate cook them in the double boiler. Heat the water in the lower part, break an egg into the upper part, add one or two tablespoons of milk, a half teaspoon of butter and speck of salt. Stir with a spoon. The hot water will soon thicken the eggs. They are more creamy, less apt to be watery when prepared in this fashion.

TRANSFER DESIGNS

If transfer designs are kept too long they will not transfer in the usual way. Wet a towel and lay it over the design and go over that with a hot iron. The dampness will penetrate the cloth and leave a nice plain design. Also wet the design, the side which you lay next your goods, and iron over that, pressing it hard with the hot iron.

The light is so powerful that a man 40 miles away could read his newspaper by it. A fine light, but it does not compare with the sun, which is 93,000,000 miles away, and so powerful we cannot look at it.

THE 2,000,000,000-candle searchlight is supposed to help us find enemy aircraft flying over our cities. What good would it do us to FIND them?

The government also employs "height finders", to show how high up the enemy aircraft are flying, and "listening machines", that make it possible to hear approaching airplanes more than ten miles away.

All interesting, but not very useful if airplanes attack our cities. What is needed is AIRPLANES, and that, fortunately is what the country has not got.

Mexico has a new worry in the fall of silver, now changed for gold at a 15 per cent discount. Workers demand pay in gold, and the gold is not there.

IOWA farmers demanded a cut in freight rates and probably will not get it.

Wisely they support the St. Lawrence Ship Canal, which would save them from 10 to 16 cents a bushel on export and add that to the price of wheat. This Secretary Hoover has explained clearly in his effort to get the canal through.

HIS plan is an American canal running through New York state. It would cost more than the other canal, but would be all American, not half Canadian.

Uncle Sam is rich enough to be in the canal business for himself.

THE new senator from Maine, opposing the League of Nations, says the United States has enough work at home.

That will be sad news for sentimentalists who think this country should consider the troubles of other nations.

But it is good news for the average American.

RABBI LAUDS HOUDINI FOR FIGHT ON MEDIUMS

Cleveland Man Declares He Was "Scientist and Benefactor Who Turned Showman"

Cleveland, O., Dec. 3—Harry Houdini, master magician, who died recently was lauded for his services in debunking spiritualism by Rabbi Barnett R. Brickner in sermon in the Euclid avenue temple here.

"A scientist and a public benefactor turned showman," Rabbi Brickner said.

"He rebunked spiritualism at a crucial time in the world's history when grief-stricken war victims were reaching out for solace and comfort. The medium—the spiritual dope peddlers were reaping a harvest, when Houdini proved that their seances were trickery.

"He declined to transmit his secrets to posterity because he feared that some trickster might use them to dupe the public," declared the Rabbi.

250 LITHUANIANS LEAVE AMERICA FOR LENINGRAD

Leningrad, Dec. 3—Leningrad municipal authorities announce that they have made preparations to receive a group of 250 Lithuanian men and women who are emigrating to the Soviet Union from America.

According to the Leningrad authorities, the emigrants had lived many years in the United States but tired of the struggle for existence, and requested permission of the Soviets to establish a communal settlement in Leningrad. Their arrival from New York is expected within the next few weeks.

victims of Fate's chancing.

Time and circumstances set the Wheel of Fortune turning, and 'tis all the same to Fate at whom the indicator points. Undeterred by prejudice she "pays up" to the winner fame, power and a certain measure of happiness—the laurels which she wagered.

Nor does it matter greatly to her when the Wheel of Fortune revolves again, Luck ignores its former choice and picks another favorite.

TWENTY odd years ago a sightseeing trip to the capital was quite as proper a way to spend one's vacation as it is now.

And so to Washington, D. C., from the Green Mountains of Vermont Miss Grace Goodhue went a-pleasuring.

Washington, the city of beautiful homes, of majestic offices. Washington within whose boundaries throbs the heart of a great nation!

There must have been much to hold the interest of the young school mistress.

The story goes, following the trail of the tourist to its inevitable end, at length Miss Goodhue passed within the portals of the White House, where in one of its stately, high ceilinged rooms there brightened the corner where it stood a gold piano.

In the soil of the New England soul thrift and simplicity flourish. And lavish display vaunteth not itself in the New England parlor.

Can't you imagine with what startled admiration the girl from Burlington looked upon the so familiar instrument so unfamiliarly armored in such shining splendor; how she loitered for a moment that she might examine the coat of arms blazing upon its side, the inscription to the President!

Then——

"Step on please!"

Cold command of a White House guard in performance of his duty.

And——

Miss Grace Goodhue "stepped on"!

As wife of a city councilman, as governor's lady in Boston town, as First Lady in the Land, helpmate to the President of the U. S. A.

And then Miss Grace Goodhue, now Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, and mistress of the White House and of all she surveys, including that high ceilinged room with its gold piano!

The other week that New England school teacher was gracious hostess to old Europe's most beautiful Queen!

What a colorful study in contrasts in the life of one American woman!

"JAMES LUCEY,
"Northampton, Mass.

"If it were not for you I would be here!"

(Signed) "CALVIN COOLIDGE
"Washington, D. C."

From a man who now sits in the seat of the mighty to a man who humbly serves his fellow men by making old shoes whole, a little letter, simple enough, just a few lines all told, but what a telltale of character it is!

Even a President, it seems, can owe some of his success to a cobbler guide, philosophe, and friend.

Imagination paints for us Calvin, young, inexperienced, struggling with the intricacies of the law, sitting at the bench of that Northampton cobbler, learning from him, and the little story laces for Mr. Coolidge none of our admiration, our respect. Somehow it reminds us of these words of one John Selden:—

"Old friends are best. King James used to call for his old shoes. They were easiest for his feet."

"Blaze of Glory"

—BY FRED M'ISAAC—

CHAPTER XII

The arrival of the house party caused me to begin to earn my wages for the first time. I met every train on Saturday afternoon and delivered a dozen well assorted guests at Abbotts'. First came Ambrose Buffington, of New York, and his wife. I knew him by reputation, a railroad owner and Wall Street manipulator. He was a small, wiry, dowdy man with ragged, brownish-gray mustache, whose wife topped him by half a head, and who was a sponderous and impressive as a steam-roller. She had a voice like a first sergeant and a big, hard, red face. Business reasons could be the only excuse for inviting a pair like this to the Abbotts', and I knew that Rose would hate Mrs. Buffington.

On the next train came two pretty girls, Alice and Frances Folsom, also from New York. They were sisters, aged about eighteen and twenty, and were accompanied by their mother, a pretty woman, prematurely gray, but stylish and winsome. On the same train arrived G. Burton Anderson. I hated that fellow from the moment he signaled me to pick up his suit case; there were no such things as red caps at the little station of Hydeport. He was about six feet two, heavily built, assured of himself, handsome in a domineering and aggressive manner, something under thirty in age, tremendously important in his own eyes, almost English in the cut of his clothes, and obviously determined that nobody should underestimate him.

He didn't do me the honor to inspect me at all, just jerked his index finger to the traveling bag, bowed to the ladies who were already in the car, introduced himself gracefully enough, and was soon on familiar terms with them.

He spoke in what New Yorkers term the "Harvard accent", which is very nearly an English accent. Outsiders do not know that such manner of speech is about as unpopular with the bulk of Harvard students as with other Americans; it is the badge of a small set who live on what used to be called the "gold coast", and who "high hat" the ordinary students to their profound resentment. Before the days of Percy Haughton this coterie used to run Harvard athletics. The chance of an unknown and socially unsponsored individual like William Alden making the football team at that period would have been more difficult than for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle. Incidentally the society rest for football players used to result in Harvard being regularly trounced by Yale.

I remembered G. Burton Anderson when I came to think about it, as a football man who had graduated during my freshman year. He had played a fair game at guard, and had beaten the football captain for marshal of Class Day because of social connections. He had not come back to assist at coaching, as so many graduate players were wont to do, which was fortunate for me, or he might have put an end to my incognito.

I dumped him at the Abbotts' front door, considerably disgusted at the "ha de da" conversation he was carrying on with the impressionable young girls, and went back for more customers.

The next batch consisted of a likable young fellow of about twenty-five named Harry Frazer, a stunning young woman about thirty years of age named Mrs. Luther Barnes, a flapper of seventeen, Estelle Ames, with her mother, Mrs. William Ames; a clergyman, Episcopal persuasion, good-natured and robust, Rev. Foster Clayborn; and a sharp featured keen-eyed man. John Gloster, whose status I could not guess.

By dinner time all the guests had turned up, and I was free for a couple of hours. My instinctive dislike for G. Burton Anderson was quickly explained since I saw him holding the arm of Rose Abbott in a possessive fashion and talking with her earnestly as they walked about in the garden.

"Who is this fellow Anderson?" I asked Higgins, the butler, at dinner. I had patched up a truce with the butler after our first dispute.

"Of course you wouldn't know," he said, patronizing as usual. "It isn't settled yet, you understand, and nothing must be said or even whispered—"

"Who is he?" I repeated impatiently.

"He is probably going to be the husband of Miss Rose."

I set down my cup with a bang. It was startling news, if true, but I didn't believe it.

"He's a big stiff," I said aloud. "I'm sure he wouldn't interest a girl like her."

"He's a very fine gentleman," rebuked Higgins. "He is always at the house in town, and he is most liberal I may say."

"Good tipper?"

"He appreciates good service."

"He'd better not try to tip me," I thought furiously.

"His family is as good as any in America, he is rich, and quite a writer. He was a famous athlete at Harvard several years ago. I overheard Mr. Abbott telling Miss Rose he would make her a good husband, only a few days ago."

"Huh! What did she say?"

"You forget yourself, Alden," said Higgins sternly. "I do not repeat the conversation of my employers."

"She will say, 'Yes,'" interjected Helma. "She keeps his picture on the bureau in her room."

I regarded the Swedish girl with disfavor. She looked to me at that minute as bovine and nitwitted. Here I had a chance to take Rose hunting and instead I had carried off this empty-headed Scandinavian doll. And now a big pompous rival appeared on the scene. Of course, Rose was probably baiting me in her customary fashion when she suggested my taking her out in the bay, but supposing she had not been, what an idiot I had been not to forget about Helma and agree to her suggestion!

I was in a fine position now, with a servant's livery on my back, to compete for favor against a creature of the type of Anderson, a writer, forsooth, and rich, and a famous Harvard athlete. He wasn't so famous. I remembered they had taken him out of the Yale game before the end of the first half because the Yale backs were holding a parade through his position, and he didn't get in the game again. Where did he get off as a famous football player alongside Alden, the All-American end and captain of the present team?

It didn't seem to me that Rose could be in love with him, else she wouldn't have been so interested in picking on me. A girl doesn't pick on a man who doesn't attract her; she ignores him. Of course, the fellow was big and good-looking enough, and in her set, and probably her parents would urge the match. Besides, he was going to be with her for a week or two, privileged to sit by her side while I dined in the servants' hall, able to golf and swim and boat and ride with her. Suppose I had to drive the car while the big mutt sat in the back seat and made love to her!

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

Why Madge Defends

CURIOUSLY enough, Hugh Grantland's sense demand as to Philip Veritzen's identity, his right to speak to me in the subtly captious manner the theatrical magnate had employed, fanned my own anger and brought me suddenly to a saner, more common sense outlook upon my encounter with my employer.

For, after all, I told myself, Mr Veritzen was my employer, and though I was sure that his announcement of the changed time of conference was but a ruse, the gesture of a spoiled small boy who resents any interference with his own plan of things; yet, from another standpoint, he was perfectly justified in demanding that I give up the engagement with Hugh for a conference over the research work which I had engaged to do for him.

I remembered, vividly what wonderful opportunity this work had seemed when Mr. Veritzen made me the offer which had brought me into his organization with a salary and recognition such as my wildest dreams would not have conceived.

"Philip the Great——"

Suppose my keeping this engagement with Hugh Grantland, a duty though it had seemed, had jeopardized my job with Philip Veritzen? The thought did not turn my resentment against Hugh, for he had been absolutely blameless in the matter, but it did soften my wrath against the famous theatrical magnate, and my calm voice to matter-of-factness as I answered Hugh.

"He is Philip Veritzen, the great——"

"Yes, yes; I know all that," he interrupted, with a manner which I would have resented as rudeness had I not seen that it was entirely unintentional. "I've followed his career for years. But you said awhile ago that you were now a working woman. Do you mean that you are in his employ—that he has the right to order you around as if you were an inexperienced office girl?"

There was such a absurd horror in his voice that I would have laughed outright, except for my knowledge of his extreme sensitiveness. I would hurt him immeasurably were I to betray any levity at his questions. But I found it hard work to make my voice entirely serious as I replied.

How to Hugh Grantland

"He is my employer, certainly," I said. "It is one of the things I have so wanted to tell you, and receive your congratulations upon it."

He turned a stricken face to me, and the car bounded forward. I knew that he had pressed the accelerator inadvertently in his emotion, but the next instant his trained resection had brought the machine into obedience again.

"Congratulations!" he repeated hollowly, and his inflections could have been no more sardonic and lugubrious if I had asked for congratulations upon being appointed devil's personal representative.

"Of course," I returned spiritedly, for something in his tone jabbed me as if it were a stiletto point. "The position which I hold in Philip Veritzen's organization is one distinctly worth while. I am in charge of all the historical research work for his organization, and the salary is really munificent. For the first time since my marriage, except for my year of teaching I have a place of my own in the economic world."

T. G. Rokestrom, of 808 Lorraine Street, Detroit, writes: "I suffered with piles for over 25 years—nothing did me any good. After my fourth box of Peterson's Ointment I am nearly cured. It is the greatest ointment I ever heard of."—Adv.

SAYS FALL DID NOT ASK FOR LEGAL OPINION

Mine Bureau Director Says Legality of Lease Questioned Early

Washington, Dec. 3 — Although serious doubt was raised from the beginning as to the legality of the Elk Hills naval oil reserve lease to the E. L. Doheny interests, ex-Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall, on trial with the oil magnate for conspiracy to defraud the government, never sought a legal opinion on the lease, H. Foster Bain, formerly director of the Bureau of Mines, declared under sharp cross-examination today.

At least two large oil companies, the Standard Oil of California, and the Union Petroleum Co., directly questioned the legality of the proposal, Bain, a defense witness, said.

Fall did not even act upon the suggestion of E. C. Finney, assistant secretary of interior, to obtain "an informal opinion," Bain admitted.

Robison Called

When Bain finally leaves the stand, Admiral J. K. Robison will be called by the defense. Robison, it was learned this morning, has direct orders from the Navy Department—despite the fact he is retired—forbidding him from testifying to anything he knows from perusal of confidential documents.

Other high lights were the announcement by the court that night sessions have been abandoned "because of the physical condition of the defendants," and the growing rumor that both Fall and Doheny will take the stand in their own defense.

DAUGHTER OF FORMER MARION MAN IS SHOT

Eva May Bridge, 5, Injured While Playing with Revolver; Brother Burned

Eva May Bridge, 5, daughter of Welcome Bridge of Toledo, formerly of this city, is in a critical condition in Toledo Hospital today as a result of being accidentally shot in the head with a .38 caliber revolver yesterday, when she and her brother, Melvin, 4, tussled with each other in an attempt to obtain the gun. Melvin Bridge sustained a badly burned hand. This was the word received here today by Mr. Bridge's brother, Mrs. Clyde Gibson, 159 Clover-av.

The bullet entered the child's head and lodged in her neck. The children found the weapon lying on a dresser, and were struggling for possession of it when it was accidentally discharged.

Mr. Bridge was born in this city and made his home here until 11 years ago.

HALL-MILLS TRIAL

Mrs. Jane Gibson told the authorities whom she saw in DeRussey's lane on the night of the murder and what took place there, but did they do anything? No. I tell you gentlemen, justice was lynched."

Simpson assailed the intimation of Senator Clarence E. Case, of the defense, that Mrs. Gibson might have committed the murders as "damnably stilly". "Gentlemen of the jury, I hope you will act according to your honest conclusions and I believe you will. I know that Mr. Young's son—John W. Young, juror No. 2—works for one of the defense. But I don't think Mr. Young will let that interfere with his honest action.

"I know Mr. Hope—Samuel B. Hope, juror No. 11—is a great friend and indebted to Senator Case, but I don't believe that will prevent him from acting as he thinks he should.

"I don't believe that this jury will kick out in 20 minutes a case that has taken a month to try."

Amplifying his charge that "justice was chloroformed" four years ago by the local authorities, Simpson said:

"That grand jury didn't have the courage of its convictions. It was afraid to act. It was hushed up and Somerset County had to pay the cost and it has to pay again."

Simpson finished his summation at 12:00 this afternoon, having spoken for an hour and forty-six minutes.

The case was expected to go to the jury shortly before 3 o'clock. At the resumption of the afternoon session, Judge Charles W. Parker was to charge the jury. This procedure was expected to require at least an hour.

Prosecutor Simpson began his summation to the jury at 10:20 o'clock by praising the fathers of the community of Somerset County and the jury.

"The whole state of New Jersey owes you a debt of gratitude for listening over such a long period to the evidence in this case," he declared.

"This murder," said Simpson, "happened four years ago and for four years there was no indictment. Did you ever hear of such a thing—no indictments for four years?"

Points to "Laxity"

Simpson then referred to the investigation of the murder four years ago and pointed out what he termed a "laxity" of the authorities.

"Willie and Henry Stevens made statements at that time, but the statements were never signed," he declared.

"It became necessary to obtain statements from these men. The case was not properly chloroformed and something had to be done.

"In 1922, Mrs. Gibson was talked to by the authorities. She told them her story. But what did they do? They laid it over. Justice was lynched."

Simpson's voice rose and he pounded on the table as he made this declaration.

Simpson called Senator Clarence E. Case's contention that Mrs. Gibson might have committed the murder of Reverend Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills as "foolish."

"It was a damnably silly statement," cried Simpson. "You might just as well have said that Mrs. Gibson's mule, Jenny, committed the murder."

"Jenny" Shoot Them?

A note of irony crept into Simpson's voice as he said:

"They said that Mrs. Gibson was once in a circus. I suppose she taught Jenny, the mule, to shoot off a .32 caliber revolver."

The curtain was slowly descending today on the final act in the Hall-Mills drama.

By sundown, the case is expected to be in the hands of the jury. Prosecutor Alexander Simpson was delivering his summation of the state's case. The court will then instruct the jury as to the law, the jury will then retire and thereafter will come the jury's verdict on a question that has aroused and divided the people of the country.

Did the wealthy Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her two brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, kill the Rev. Edward Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills on the night of Sept. 14, 1922?

Guilty or not guilty.

The jury's answer to that question will climax the most sensational murder mystery in the history of American journalism. Exactly one month ago today the trial was started, and since that day, more than 10,000,000 words have been telegraphed to the outside world over the network of wires cut into the courthouse. Several hundred of the larger and lesser lights of journalism, scores of photographers and a battalion of telegraphers have done their part in picturing to the world the intricate and mysterious angles of the great murder mystery.

Sensation after Sensation

Sensation after sensation developed with dizzy speed. During this last month 193 witnesses have trooped to the stand; charges of bribery have been made by witnesses under oath; a stricken woman witness was conveyed thirty miles in an ambulance to testify, lying flat on her back in bed in the courtroom; lawyers have fought like the famous Kilkenny cats; the defendants have been dramatically pointed out in court as members of the murder squad that lovaded De Russey's lane on the fatal night and even the jury itself has been charged with irregularities sufficiently distressing to the prosecution to warrant a motion for a mistrial.

Nearly everybody who has followed the case is anticipating a verdict of not guilty. Simpson himself virtually tossed in the towel the other day in making his motion for a mistrial when he declared the case might as well have been tried before 12 trees as the present jury. Simpson declares, however, that if the jury acquits, he will appear before the Supreme Court in Trenton and ask for a foreign jury to try the same defendants on the charge of murdering Rev. Hall. They are now on trial on the indictment charging the murder of Mrs. Mills.

BUCYRUS WOMAN IS SERIOUSLY BURNED

Apron Catches Fire From Gas Stove; Expected To Recover

Bucyrus, Dec. 3—Mrs. Mabel Larue, 50, 613 W. Mary-st, was expected to recover this morning from serious burns received late yesterday, when her apron caught fire from a gas stove at her home.

Mrs. Larue probably escaped a horrible death by maintaining her presence of mind when the flames from her clothing swept up about her face. She sat on the floor and wrapped a heavy rug about her, managing to extinguish the fire. With the exception of her face and arms, her body is a mass of painful burns.

MRS. WILLIAM DOWLER GIVES STUDY CHAPTER

"Christ of the Indian Road,' the second chapter of the study book was given by Mrs. William Dowler at a meeting of members of the Women's Missionary Society of the Nazarene Church, yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edward Ellington, N. Seffner-av. It was planned to send a box of supplies to the Bresee Hospital at Nampa, Idaho. The next meeting will be held at the church Thursday night, Jan. 6.

that lasted throughout the night and until after daylight this morning. Every field, ditch, road and farm building within a radius of a mile and half was searched.

The one possible trace of the missing man available to searchers was furnished by the son, Delphus, who hauls the school children of the neighborhood to Kirkpatrick. As he was making his return trip, late in the afternoon, he noticed a man resembling his father walking along the road half a mile west of his home. He was at a distance from the spot and when he arrived there was no one in sight.

The most logical theory this morning seemed to be that a passing motorist had offered Hill a ride after the latter had gained the highway and that he was taken out of the neighborhood possibly to another county.

Considerable concern was held by members of the family today, who feared that Mr. Hill had spent the night in the open. He has been in failing health for some time and a few hours exposure no doubt would prove very injurious.

The missing man has resided in the communities of Kirkpatrick and Caledonia practically all his life. He is the father of four sons, Delphus, where he made his home; Lester, Bucyrus; Roy, Beech, and Wayne, a farmer in the Kirkpatrick community.

light to permit him to proceed north on Main-st, did not see Mr. Bower.

Alive at 3 P. M.

The youth was alive at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. This fact has been established by a report from the Merchants' Transfer Co to the effect that he telephoned to the company's office regarding a piece of furniture that was still at his former home in Meeker and was to be brought to his new residence on Miami-st.

Circumstances indicate that young Virden's decision to end his life was made without deliberation, as he had apparently been in better spirits than usual and had planned to complete the work of moving the family household goods from Meeker to this city yesterday afternoon. He informed his cousin, Dever Miller, 585 Herman-st, that he would be ready for the trip to Meeker shortly after noon young Miller having been assisting in the moving.

Fails To Appear

When the youth failed to appear at his home during the afternoon, relatives became alarmed, fearing that he had met with an accident. No suspicion of suicide was expressed by any of his friends or relatives until after discovery of his automobile at Crystal Lake.

All relatives and acquaintances of the boy were astonished and stunned by news of the reported suicide. He had been attending Marion Business College, preparing himself for a business career and had progressed to such a stage that he would have been ready to accept a position in the near future.

J. T. Bargar, manager of the Business College, said today that the boy had made an excellent showing in his studies and that arrangements had been made to place him in the employment of a local business concern. He had not attended classes during the last week while helping prepare for moving from Meeker to this city.

The change from Meeker to Marion had been planned by the boy and his step-mother, Mrs. Clemmie Virden, in order that he might be near his future place of employment.

Parents Dead

Both of the boy's parents are dead, his mother having passed away about seven years ago. His father, Howard Virden, formerly one of the best known residents in the western part of the county, was found dead in his automobile, his demise having been the result of a stroke of apoplexy. Tomorrow will be the anniversary of Mr. Virden's death and it is regarded as possible that the approach of this date had added to the son's state of melancholy.

While attending Business College, young Virden was employed on Saturday and Sunday of each week at the Erie transfer.

ployment figure was registered in 1923, when the working force reached approximately 1,900 or 100 less than the present total.

Conditions Favorable

The situation at the local plant is much more favorable and encouraging than it was a year ago, when the force of employes in office and plant numbered about 1,800. There are indications that the 1927 production may pass that of this year, Mr. King states.

Under the system of operation at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. plant there is little danger of a large reduction of the operating force at any time, even though there might be a slump in orders. It is the company's policy to maintain an average production by building surplus stock during periods when sales are slack, thus keeping a force of near normal proportions employed.

Results of a survey in other local factories add to Marion's reasons for gratification over the business and industrial situation and the outlook for next year. Production is unusually heavy for this season of the year and it is stated that it will continue at this level, or possibly higher, during 1927.

pool organized by American rubber interests.

British rubber interests welcome the new American combine, the head of one of the largest rubber syndicates in Great Britain told the International News Service today.

"Such a combine will help stabilize prices and prevent seasonal fluctuations," this spokesman said.

"The British rubber capital is so large that there is no possible danger of anything resembling a trade war as the result of the Americans pooling their resources."

Raw rubber advanced on the market today, upon news of the new combine.

The colonial office stated today that the American combine will not affect the operation of the Stevenson plan and that rubber production for the coming year has been already fixed, insofar as British rubber is concerned.

dinner to be given at Hotel Harding, and for the parade before the program.

A huge chorus of school children will be one of the features of the Tuesday night affair. The seventh, eighth and ninth grades of the city and county schools will form this chorus. An invitation has been extended to the members of all choirs of churches in the city to assist in this musical program, and for them to gather at the Christmas tree on Tuesday night and sing the carols.

The Canto Club will have a large part in the entertainment of the crowd which will be present. The members will lead, in the singing of the carols, and the conductor of the Canto Club, Ernst C. Carl, will be in charge of the entire program. There will be plenty of music available by the bands, as six bands will be in the parade Tuesday afternoon, and most of these will go to the community celebration that night.

The selection of songs for the program was made at a meeting of the committee in charge at C. B. Rayburn's office last night. The songs selected are familiar to everyone. Titles of the carols chosen are:

"Hark! The Herald Angels Sing"; "Joy to the World;" "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear;" "O, Come All Ye Faithful"; "O Little Town of Bethlehem"; and "Silent Night."

MRS. SANDRIDGE FAIR

The condition of Mrs. C. M. Sandridge of Harpster, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis at City Hospital is reported fair today.

YALE SEEKS $3,500,000 TO ENDOW NEW LIBRARY

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 3—Yale University is seeking $3,500,000 to endow what is to be the largest and most complete university library in the world. Yale University has plenty of money to build the structure, work on which is now under way here, and there is a fund on hand to maintain the library physically. The $3,500,000 now being gathered is to endow the purchase of books and to maintain a trained staff.

Yale's library, costing a sum not named to a certainty, is to be ready in September 1928, if builders' plans do not go awry. The structure will house 1,000,000 volumes at the outset besides 10,000 periodicals coming in from every quarter of the civilized globe.

Two thousand persons will be able to seat themselves to use Yale's library books in comfort when the new place is done, and the various reading rooms will open on a street level. But the books themselves will repose chiefly in a towering structure 192 feet high and 82 feet square, an affair to be named the Hook Tower.

Trickle and High-Rate Charger

The new Balkite Charger with both low and high charging rates is easily the greatest charger value in radio. It combines a trickle and rapid charger in one. Its high rate supplies a ready reserve of power for the largest sets.

The new Balkite Charger is a permanent piece of equipment. It has no tubes and nothing to replace. Entirely noiseless, in most cases it can be used during reception. Can be used with 4 or 6-volt batteries. Price $19.50. FOR THOSE WHO REQUIRE A CHARGER OF ONLY LIMITED CAPACITY—THE BALKITE TRICKLE CHARGER—$10. Ask your dealer. SHORT SESSION OF CONGRESS IS "LAME DUCK"

Defeated Hold-Over Members Plentiful; Threats Are Being Made

Washington, Dec. 8—"Lame duck" congressmen are no new thing in Washington, but it isn't often that as forlorn a cripple is seen in the national legislature just about to assemble here for the "short session" of 1926-7.

"Lame duck" lawmaking is peculiar to the United States.

In every other country on earth where the people have a voice in the direction of their own affairs the members of congress or parliament or the diet or assembly or whatever else it may happen to be called go out of office as soon as they are beaten at the polls. The very next lineup is a lineup of winners exclusively.

Not so here.

A senator or a representative may be whaled to a fare-thee-well in November, but he still has a "short session" ahead of him, during which he keeps on voting and speaking and shaping governmental policies for the constituency which has repudiated him exactly as he chooses. What he does choose generally is just what his state or district doesn't want, or it wouldn't have defeated him.

J. W. Wadsworth

These defeated hold-overs are "lame ducks."

In this coming, and concluding, session of the sixty-ninth congress they are unusually numerous. Senator Wadsworth of New York, Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania, Senator Stanfield of Oregon and Senator McKinley of Illinois—who, however, is so ill that he probably will not be present and may not live out the session—are conspicuous specimens.

There is also a goodly "lame duck" delegation in the house of representatives.

"Lame ducks" are proverbially amenable to presidential influence.

Turned down by the voters, the only way for them to stay in public life is through the medium of federal appointments. If they're "good" up to the last minute, it's customary to take care of them, but not if they're disgruntled and unmanageable. Ordinarily, therefore, a "lame duck" is the best "administration man" imaginable.

GEORGE W. PEPPER

All the same, despite "lame duck" support, this final session of the sixty-ninth congress hardly promises to be very productive of pro-administration results.

A "lame duck's" weakness is that he lasts only until congress adjourns in March. If he can be stalled off until then, out he goes. The anti-administration forces certainly will try to stall throughout the winter of 1926-7. The odds are heavily against them in the house of representatives, but in the senate the margin is so close that they may maintain an effective deadlock until adjournment.

There are even hints that the appropriation bills will be held up, forcing an extra session next summer, but that, if there is one, will be an extra session of the 70th congress, with the "lame ducks" out of it, and the Democrats and insurgent Republicans, between them, in control of the senate.

The "lame duck" session will be oratorically red hot, at any rate—all the more so if nothing else is accomplished. Taxation, prohibition referendums, war debts, Secretary of State Kellogg's policy in Mexico, farm relief, and, above everything, primary election scandals—plenty to wax furious over. It may be an abortive session from a legislative standpoint, but it will be an exceedingly vocal one if there's anything in indications.

-o- The New Book -o-

BY FRANCES JENNINGS

"THE Unearthly", the latest publication by the author of "The Garden of Allah", Robert Hichens, strikes a new note in the realm of literature. A strikingly original theme and a thoroughly new and absorbing character make the book one of the most interesting this author has produced. The novel is published by the Cosmopolitan Book Corporation.

The title, "The Unearthly", which suggests mystery, refers to a man of a character totally different from the habitual, everyday people of which we have been reading in the realistic novel. The setting and the other characters are realistic, it is true, and thus has Mr. Hichens even more ably drawn "the unearthly", the self composed, humanity-loving, godlike, "a man from the north" who has not only an unusually brilliant mind but a faculty for influencing those about him through his almost superhuman mental power. He performs no miracle—he merely touches on the lives of those about him in such a manner that the very course of their life is changed—he is the "circle" of the life of one whose hand he chooses to enter.

An English spinster is the first character of the book to feel his mental power, while her niece, Imogen Loxaire, a sophisticated experienced young society woman, is, peculiarly, the second. Imogen finds herself tremendously interested in the man largely because he is "something new," no doubt, while her aunt's interest in him, though she assures her niece and herself is but a mental attraction, slightly verges on the physical, we fear. Hichens does not enlighten us. He leaves the old maid after she has followed "the unearthly" to his home in Switzerland where she, in turn, has been followed by Imogen. The latter also regards as a rival in gaining the attention (or attentions shall we say?) of the unearthly.

IMOGEN, whose clever mind has attained the title "unearthly" to Peter Kharkoff, is the object of the love of a very human young Englishman, Hugo Dennistoun, a man prone to partake of sports and "things of the body," being far too active a man to care for mental development, while Imogen herself is the happy medium. When Hugo is crippled for life in a hunting accident, Imogen sure sons the Jew, Peter Kharkoff to his side to instill in him if possible a love of mental activity. His accident also brings her consent to marry him which he had long sought but now wishes to relinquish as unbefitting a physical cripple. "The unearthly," or the Jew, absorbs Hugo's interest to such an extent that he persuades his fiancee to go to London once again and enter the London gazettes before becoming his wife, while he remains quietly at her summer home.

And then another man appears....a Russian and a type of man who first characteristically offers Imogen his affection in the physical sense. Hugo and Peter, meanwhile, seem to Imogen to be content without her, since they have gone to Switzerland instead of returning to London as she had expected.

She later follows them and upon her insistence in sacrificing her life by marrying a cripple, Hugo commits suicide. The Russian puts in a timely appearance and he, too, though he has grown to love Imogen and offers her marriage, is rejected, thus leaving Imogen and Peter Kharkoff—the mystery of whom is never solved, alone. Before the Russian leaves, however, he prophesies that Imogen will one day "marry that man" and this we feel—though Hichens does not tell us—comes true. The last sentence of the book is uttered by the Jew and gives us food for thought, also giving the reader an uncanny sense that in Mr. Hichen's new novel he has really been introduced to a truly astounding and peculiarly interesting character. His words were 'The truth is this, surely my friends and comrade; every one of us is unearthly.'

ROBERT HICHENS has an intimate, informal commanding style—fascinating to read because of its unpretentious simplicity. His wording is modern, even to popular phrases of the day, making his books the natural, care free products of a truly unconscious and observing author of 32 years of age.

Student Government

A movement which is being organized at Glenwood is student government. This is to give each member of the school a feeling of responsibility and to teach self-government. Using this plan each class has the following officers: chairman, secretary, chaplain and two committees, called conduct and next-room committees. Each of these have three members. Each office is held for two weeks. The duty of the chairman is to call the class to order each morning for opening exercises. The scripture lesson is read by the chaplain; the secretary reads the minutes of the previous meeting, and then the committees are called upon for a report. The teacher supervises this work to see that the class is governed in a fair and impartial manner. In the order of business is a place for the "Good of the School." The number of good suggestions that are offered by the pupils is remarkable.

Short Meetings

This meeting takes about 15 minutes each morning but the teachers feel that it is time well spent, for it not only teaches the children how to conduct a meeting in proper form, but it also gives the teacher an opportunity to study the characteristics of the individual pupil.

In view of the fact that many people do not know the location of the building it is given as follows: Go west on Bennett-st from Davids-st and turn south from Bennett on to Latourette-st, on which Glenwood is located.

MANY PRINCIPALS FROM MARK STREET SCHOOL

Number of Instructors in Charge of Other Buildings in Marion

Mark Street School has not only been a school for the education of the children but a source of principals. During its 15 years existence there have been teachers who have left to become principals in other schools. Miss Evalona McKinley, who was the seventh grade teacher, left Mark Street School to become principal of Main Street School. Miss Alice Sneckenberger, a sixth grade teacher, is now principal of Oak Street School. Miss Alice Dombaugh, now principal of State Street School, was formerly an eighth grade teacher at Mark Street School. Miss Carrie Duerr, former teacher of the opportunity class at Mark Street, is now principal at Davids Street. Miss Anna Darby, who is now principal of the high school at McArthur, Ohio, also came from the teaching staff at Mark Street School.

Other teachers who have advanced from Mark Street School are Miss Mears, teacher in Central Junior High; Miss Brookshire, teacher at Vernon Heights Junior High; and Miss Marion McNeal, supervisor of grade school music.

Piano numbers were given by Eula Bain, Selma Schoen, and Kathleen Beicher. Vocal selections were sung by Vida Peacock and Lavona Peacock, and an interesting reading was given by Jane Guthery.

PLAY TO BE PRESENTED

A play is being prepared by the third and fourth grades of State Street School to be given at the Christmas meeting of the Community Club. This meeting will be held about Dec. 17. The play is being coached by Miss Conley, fourth grade teacher, and Miss Turner, third grade teacher.

ATTENDANCE RECORD

The eighth grade students of State Street School had an attendance percentage of 98.6 for November. For three weeks the girls maintained the record of 100 per cent. attendance. During the last month there were but nine days' absence checked against the eighth grade pupils.

HIS BOOK SELLS 22,000,000 COPIES DURING 30 YEARS

Dr. Charles M. Sheldon, author of "In His Steps," the book that created wide interest when it was published in 1896 and of which 22,000,000 copies have been sold, will celebrate his seventieth birthday next February 20. He is the author or editor of thirty-five other books and was for thirty years pastor of the Central Congregational church at Topeka, Kan., where he lives. This is his newest photograph.

CONSIDER TEST RESULTS ABOVE AVERAGE HERE

Students in Grade Schools Make Remarkable Showing in Examinations

Results of arithmetic tests conducted among second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grade students in Marion's public schools today were announced by Supt. Jesse H. Mason. A majority of the results are remarkable and above the average, school officials claim.

Out of eight problems given to fourth-grade students 11 scored perfect in seven or more. They are Carol Shearer, L. J. Winegardner, Pauline Simpson, Gene Morehart, Carrie Farmer and Chester Rose, all of the Mark Street School; Virginia Blair, Oakland School; Mary King, Forest Lawn School, and Mary Jane Reams and John Miller, Greenwood School. The time limit was 15 minutes.

Seven sixth-grade students made perfect scores in the tests given that grade. They are Goldie Colegrove, Silver Street; Mary Burtch, Olney Avenue; Alice Fleckinger, Olney Avenue; Ruth Sonanstine, Robert Mauta and John Guthrie, Greenwood, and Thelma Rollrock, Oakland. The time limit was 18 minutes.

Seventh grade students were allowed 12 minutes in which to work four problems. Sixteen scored 100 per cent. They were Betty Hoyles and Ulrich Mathina, Silver Street; Allan Justice, Mary Corwin, Lucille Atchinson, Betty Jones, Carmen Jones, Grace Stockman, Abbott Howser and William Davis, Vernon Heights; Gladys Craner and Howard Bosh, Glenwood; Mary Ellen Slusser, Donald Lindsey, Clifford Smith, Catherine Parcher, Helen Laverty, Elizabeth Bufford, Helen Andrews and Carrol Caris, Pearl Street; Virginia Dorsey and Mary Margaret Peters, Greenwood; Lucille Cudd, Oakland; Grace Marie Staker and Grace Wise, Oak Street, and Virginia Thompson, Mark Street.

In the second grades 45 problems were given. The average grade was found to be 36.8. The average of last year on practically the same test was 33.7.

Two tests, one on addition and the other on subtraction was given to third-grade pupils. In the subtraction test of 45 problems the student scored an average of 38.6.

Multiplication and division made up the tests given to the fourth grades of the city. Forty-two problems were given. The time alloted for each was two minutes. The medium grade was 27.4. Last year the average was 21.6.

The medium in a long division test given to fifth-grade students in the city was 8.7, four-tenths over the grade of last year.

PUPILS AT GREENWOOD SCHOOL ARE REWARDED

Row of Fourth Grade with Highest Banking Percentage Is Honored

A rule was established by Miss Carol Leeka, fourth grade instructor at Greenwood School Building, that the row that had an average of 100 per cent in banking for a certain length of time would be rewarded. The pupils are enthusiastic over this plan and the week before last the reward for the 100 per cent row was the privilege of putting on the Thanksgiving program, Wednesday, Nov. 24. The following was the program given by the winners:

Flag Salute, Marietta Grace; Bible reading and Lord's Prayer, led by, Miss Leeka; song, "Thanksgiving", by the school; "Day of Days", James Mauta; "Thanksgiving Joys", Marietta Grace; "Thanksgiving at Grandmothers", Willard Rinnert; "Thanksgiving Ride", Raymon Hochstetter; "Our Thanksgiving", Harvey Clarke, and "On Grandmothers' Tulle", Eileen Wilkins.

One of the lively organizations of the Vernon Heights school this year is the music club under the direction of Miss Rhea King. It is composed of 17 ninth grade girls. The meetings are held weekly. Special musical numbers for use at the school and in keeping with the Christmas season are being rehearsed. During the second semester the girls will take up the study of operas.

STANDARD RAISED

The Oakland Heights banking standard has been raised considerably since the beginning of the school term. At the present time, 300 out of 485 students are banking. Six rooms out 12 are 100 per cent, and the school as a whole ranks fifth among the buildings of the city. In September the school ranked only thirteenth among the schools.

GALION CHEST DRIVE TO START ON WEDNESDAY

Committees Rapidly Bringing All Plans for Charity Campaign to Completion

Galion, Dec. 3—The biggest Community Chest drive in local history will get under way Wednesday when scores of workers will start a systematic canvass of the city for funds. Last year, the driver was unusually successful and during the intervening months citizens have had a chance to realize many good things that have been accomplished.

Fifty members of the managing committees met at the city library Monday night and completed plans. At this time the chairmen gave reports on their work and the general summary indicated that with the interest and enthusiasm that has already been shown the drive should go over the top in record time.

Boy Scouts of the city will assist in the work and will commence their activities Saturday. Each troop will be assigned a certain portion of the town where they will distribute bulletins and statistics giving full information concerning the work of the association and showing the advantages of organized charity. Another group of scouts will be on duty at the public square and will present motorists with windshield stickers and Community Chest placards.

Churches of the city are co-operating by devoting the Sunday morning services to an appeal for funds.

The last rally of the workers will take place Tuesday night at the First M. E. church when all solicitors, committeemen and members of the Kiwanis, Rotary and Better Galion Clubs will assemble at a dinner at which Ed. R. Kelsy state worker from Toledo will be a speaker. Kelsy besides being an entertainer is an experienced manager for Community Chest drives and will be able to put the last bit of pep into those who the next day will begin their labors to put the drive across for Galion.

On Wednesday morning the large group of representative women who have volunteered their services will start soliciting. Every home in the city will be reached and other groups will go through shops and stores seeking contributions.

School children have pledged their support and although not asked to give generous amounts are being urged to each give something.

The drive is scheduled to close at midnight on Dec. 8, but the managers are hoping to reach the goal before that time.

History of Mt. Gilead to be Feature of 1927 Issue of High School Yearbook

Mt. Gilead, Dec. 3—The staff in charge of publishing the Mizpah, the year book issued annually by the Senior class of Mt. Gilead High School, has been busy this week taking a large number of the pictures that will appear in the book. Individual pictures of the Seniors, the Juniors, the Faculty and the Board of Education have been taken. The group photos include the Sophomores, the Freshmen, the athletic squads, the public speaking class and the Signum staff in charge of publishing the Latin paper. Winners of letters on athletic teams will also be shown individually.

Local History

The staff will work out a new and novel idea as the background for the book. Running through the publication will be scenes of Mt. Gilead, both in the early day and at the present time. A complete history of the town is being collected and will be presented in the book, running through the advertising section. This will be done instead of filling that section with the usual quota of jokes.

Members of the staff are busy collecting the historical data, as well as pictures of Mt. Gilead in the early day. Any citizen having pictures appropriate to this purpose is requested to get in touch with members of the staff. Also, they request anyone who can give information bearing on the history to assist in this rather large task by cooperating.

It is the hope of those in charge of the book to make this history accurate and authentic and also interesting by the use of many pictures. It is thought that the history feature should given an impetus to the sale of the books to the townspeople. A canvass of the town will be made in the near future to ascertain how many can be sold.

Merchants will also be asked to cooperate by contributing advertising space in the book. The local school for some time has been operating upon the policy of buying all possible supplies and equipment through local merchants, and they will be asked in turn to support the school ventures.

Practically all of the building's contents were lost in the fire, only a few pieces of furniture from the dance room being removed. The loss, estimated at $8,000 is partially covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered by a passing Mt. Gilead men driving along the highway at about 11:30 o'clock. A group of boys from the neighborhood had been playing basketball on the dance floor during the evening and had taken their departure at 10:30. There were no evidences of fire at that time. SON FIGURES IN DIVORCE TRIAL OF HOCH FAMILY

Mrs. Helen Hoch Admits Threatening Husband with Icepick To "Scare Him"

Donald Jack Hoch, the three-year-old son of Paul and Helen Hoch figured in the hearing of the divorce suit of Paul Hoch against Helen Hoch before Judge B. Scofield in Common Pleas Court this morning.

After the records of Probate Court had been introduced into the case, Judge Scofield ruled that Common Pleas Court could not exercise any jurisdiction over the boy, as the Probate Court must rule in awarding him to either the father or mother. Hoch asks in his petition that the boy be awarded permanently to Mrs. Emma Hoch, his mother.

Records Introduced

Oscar Gast, deputy clerk of Probate Court, was called to bring the Probate Court records for evidence. These records showed that in 1925 Mrs. Helen Hoch filed a complaint in Probate Court and that the mother was awarded custody of the child at that time.

Another entry in Probate Court records, dated Dec. 3, 1926, shows the child awarded to Mrs. Emma Hoch, with mother given the right to visit the boy at certain times. Attorney J. Malcolm Strelitz, counsel for Mrs. Hoch, protested the last entry in the Probate Court records, but Judge Scofield ruled that it could not be questioned in Common Pleas Court and must be settled in Probate Court hearings.

Mrs. Emma Hoch, mother of Paul Hoch, who brought the suit for divorce against his wife, and George Hoch, his father, were both on the witness stand this morning. The last witness for the plaintiff will probably be called this afternoon, giving a day and a half of the suit to the plaintiff.

Defense Calls 20

The defense has called 20 witnesses, and will probably put the first ones on the stand this afternoon. Mrs. Hoch has already been on the stand in cross examination by Attorney Grant Mouser, Jr.

The shirt, necktie and underwear worn by Paul Hoch on Sunday, Aug. 22, 1926, the day when Mrs. Hoch is alleged to have chased her husband with an icepick, following a quarrel, were introduced while she was on the stand.

She identified the clothing as that worn by her husband on that day, and admitted that the tears in the clothing were made by herself. She said she tore the clothing while trying to free herself from her husband.

She also identified the icepick, introduced as evidence, and admitted seizing it and running upstairs after her husband and thrusting it three times through the door of the bedroom into which Hoch went, and tried to close the door.

Under questioning by Attorney Mouser Mrs. Hoch said she did it to "try to scare him."

Tell of Trip

Several witnesses were called yesterday to testify about a trip to Columbus which Mrs. Hoch made a year ago last spring in company with three other Marion women to attend a conference there of saleswomen for a lingerie concern. The group stayed all night at a Columbus hotel, and Hoch charges his wife with misconduct with one of the men in charge of the conference.

Mrs. Harry Gooding, one of the women who accompanied Mrs. Hoch to the conference, testified that Mrs. Hoch and this salesman were alone in the room next to the other women for a short time. Mrs. Gooding said that Mrs. Hoch told her she was arranging to take the agency for the lingerie concern in Marion.

"Refused to Drink"

Questioned about what went on at the hotel after the conference Mrs. Gooding said that some liquor was brought to the room and that highballs were served. She was urged to take a glass of ginger ale, she said but when it was given her it had liquor in it and she would not drink it. She said they played a game with dice, called "seven-eleven" and that a salesman gave them each a dollar bill with which to play. Mrs. Gooding, asked if she won any money, said that she had not won any and lost her dollar.

WAPAKONETA LEGION FIVE DEFEATS KENTON

New York Central Team Goes Down to the Tune of 57 to 29

Kenton, Dec. 3—Beef and brawn combined with an unusual amount of speed and skill resulted in the first defeat of the Kenton New York Central Athletic Association basketball team at Wapakoneta last night when the American Legion team of that city handed the locals 57 to 29.

The light weight Kenton team was unable to successfully combat the weighty Legion crew composed of star basketball players of Lima. This was the first appearance of the local aggregation on an out of town floor this season and a return date with Wapakoneta will be played in Kenton in the near future.

The Kenton line-up was greatly weakened through the loss of Ollie Bowers who was forced to sit on the bench due to sickness. It is unlikely that he will be able to play Saturday night when the locals take on Cincinnati Big Fours in the southern Ohio city. The absence of Bowers from the game resulted in the defense of the shop cagers to be thrown completely off.

G. O. P. LEADERS PLAN WAR TO PROTECT SINGLE VOTE

Administration Will Level Guns at Democrats If Wilson, Vare Are Not Seated

Washington, Dec. 3—With President Coolidge taking the lead in smoothing out Republican differences in congress, administration leaders today plotted a defensive war to protect their single vote control over the senate in the seventieth congress.

Anticipating a Democratic drive to wrest control by the exclusion of Senators-elect Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, and William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, the Republican chieftains drafted plans for initiating retaliatory contests against at least four incoming Democratic senators.

If the right of Smith and Vare to take their seats is challenged, the Republican leaders decided, similar challenges will be leveled at enough incoming Democrats to insure Republican control of the senate.

Unless an agreement is reached shortly permitting both Vare and Smith to be seated—at least long enough to help the Republicans organize the senate—the next six weeks will witness the launching of a series of election contests against Democrats. Among those most likely to face these contests are Senators Edwin S. Broussard, of Louisiana, Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, and Ellison D. Smith, of South Carolina.

Rain tonight, changing to snow Saturday, with a drop in the temperature to hold the snow when it falls will mean that with a little luck there will be snow on the ground when Santa Claus drives into Marion next Tuesday. Gossip and Guesses in the World of Sport

By Pat Murphy

TONIGHT in Chicago, Mickey Walker, former welterweight champion, will try to lift the middleweight crown from the title holder, "Tiger" Flowers. And the "wise" money is backing Mickey to do the trick. The Jersey Irishman grew rapidly after he whipped Jack Britton for the welterweight championship, and it was a hard matter for him to make the weight to defend his title. It was noticed in all his late fights as a welterweight, particularly in the fight with Pete Latzo which cost him his crown, that Mickey tired after the first few rounds. Shrewd judges of boxing attribute this failing to the strenuous work he was compelled to do to get himself to 145 pounds.

Tonight he will be fighting at his natural weight, in fact, will be a few pounds under the limit of the class in which he now aspires to be the leader. He should enter the ring with his full strength, and with his tremendous hitting power, should be able to take the "deacon".

Flowers has announced that if he wins tonight he will challenge Jack Delaney for a fight for the light heavyweight title. It is our guess that the tiger will be looking for a return match with the new middleweight champion, rather than looking for new worlds to conquer.

MARION basketball fans will have another dish of the professional game served them next Tuesday night at the Steam Shovel gym, when the team representing the Steam Shovel will tie up with Ohio Wesleyan. The Bishops are said to have a good team this year. Francis Bacon, who is managing the Steam Shovel outfit and playing one of the guard positions, says that he has a team which will be heard of before the end of the season. After the Wesleyan game, the shovel builders will enter on an ambitious schedule which will bring some of the best teams in the country here.

THE signing of Bill Carrigan as manager by the Boston Red Sox leaves but one managerial hole hole to fill in the big leagues now. That is, unless the axe falls in some unexpected quarter. The only manager whom rumor now has on an unsteady throne is Rogers Hornsby. It is unlikely that Hornsby will be replaced, at least during this winter. If he is unable to repeat with the Cards next year, Breadon will probably dump him at the end of the season. But public sentiment in St. Louis is all with Rogers. And the public back of that aforesaid sentiment is the same public which pays the freight. Breadon will not let his personal feelings hurt his business acumen.

Tris Speaker's place at the helm of the Cleveland Indians is still vacant. Tris stepping out so early in the Stove League season is going to make many sports writers look for some new rumor to spring during the winter. Ever since Spoke succeeded Pohl in Cleveland, he has been a fertile subject for gossip all during the in-between season. Every year the guessers have had him through as manager. Now that it is a fact, they will have to pick another subject for their guesses.

UNLIKE other champions, Tod Morgan, the world's junior lightweight titleholder, is a busy fighter. In the last six months Morgan has defended his title against Kid Sullivan, Joe Glick, Johnny Dundee and Carl Duane. This is somewhat of a record, for champions as a rule do not go to the post in defense of their laurels so often. Among the opponents whom Morgan will meet in New York this winter are Sid Terris, Phil McGraw, Billy Petrolle, Babe Herman, Lou Paluso, Mike Ballerino, and Ace Hudkins.

TOMORROW, Notre Dame will meet the University of Southern California. Two weeks ago this game was looked forward to as the most important intersectional game of the year, and a game with bearing on the national championship. However, last Saturday's defeat of Notre Dame at the hands of Carnegie Tech has somewhat dimmed the glamour of the game. Nevertheless, the battle between the two teams will draw a big crowd, and should uncover some of the best football of the season. It will take more than one defeat a season to dim Knute Rockne's glory, and Howard Jones, of the famous Yale team of Howard and Tad, is far from a slouch.

The new Canadian-American Professional Hockey League embraces a circuit of five cities—Quebec, Boston, Providence, Springfield and New Haven.

Sunday School Leagues Each Have Six Teams

Plans for Intermediate, Junior Loops Completed by Church Representatives

Decide To Stage Contests on Y. M. C. A. Courts with All Players Participating Becoming Members of Association; Season To Open in Few Weeks

Six teams have entered the Junior and Intermediate Sunday School basketball leagues and games will get under way within the next two weeks.

This decision was reached last night at the second meeting of the representatives of the various quintets with F. O. Rudolph, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., last night, in the lobby of the "Y."

It is definitely decided that the games will be played at the Y. M. C. A., with all who take part becoming members of the organization if they do not already belong to the "Y."

Intermediate teams include Presbyterian, Epworth M. E., Trinity Baptist, United Brethren, Calvary, and St. Paul's English Lutheran.

Junior teams include Presbyterian, Epworth M. E., Trinity Baptist, Central Christian, First Reformed, and Forest Lawn.

Representatives at the meeting last night presented a tentative list of players who are expected to take part in the games, but an official list will not be ready until Monday, when the final meeting of the churches will be held at the Y. M. C. A.

At this meeting, the schedule for the season will be arranged and a positive date will be set for the playing of the games. It is expected that the contests will be held on the Y. M. C. A. gym floors every Tuesday night.

Slow In Forming

The Sunday School leagues were slow in forming this season when it could not be decided where to hold the games. Last season, the league games were played on the armory floor when the officials of the Y. M. C. A. passed a new ruling providing that all persons participating in contests on the floors there must first be members. This season, it was finally decided that since many persons on the teams are already members, the ruling would be complied with and the Y. M. C. A. gyms would be employed.

Any proceeds of the games will go into the hands of the various churches entered in the leagues to aid in paying any expenses which may arise, Mr. Rudolph said today.

There will be no Senior league this year and Junior teams will be composed of youths not older than 17 years while Intermediates must be nre than 20 years of age.

HOWITZERS BURY COMPANY D FIVE BY SCORE 33-13

First O. N. G. Game Results in Howitzer Victory

Company D cagers had no chance against the excellent team work and basket shooting of the Howitzer boys last night at the armory and were buried under a 33 to 13 score in the first game between the two companies this year.

Held to only 12 points in first half, the Howitzer five went back into the battle in the second period and dropped the ball through the bucket from all angles. Company D scored only seven points in the first half and were held to one less in the final chapter.

Boulton, left forward for Howitzers, was the stellar performer of the skirmish. He scored eight field goals for half his teammates' points and covered the floor like a veteran. Kellogg, Howitzer's left guard, dropped in four field goals.

Harris, left forward for Company D, connected for three field goals and a couple of free throws for eight points. Self at center played a great game but garnished only three points.

Probably the greatest football player ever developed in the South is "Bo" McMillin, whose brilliant playing a few years back put Centre College on the gridiron map. McMillin is now coaching the Geneva College team, which this season has made football history by scoring a victory over Harvard.

Babe Ruth's hitting is so tremendous that his fielding is generally overlooked, but close observers of the game know him as one of the best outfielders in the big leagues.

STEAM SHOVELS, LAUNDRYMEN WIN PIN BATTLES

Take Three Games Each from Displaymen and Lumbermen

Marion Steam Shovels and Anthony Laundrymen took the bowling matches in the Industrial League last night on the Y. M. C. A. alleys.

The Shovels easily downed the Displaymen in three consecutive games, winning all by fair margins. Anthonys won three from the Marion County Lumber Co. rollers.

Richards led the Shovels in scoring for a single game when he was chalked up with 226 points in the first contest. Norris was high man for the three games, totaling 563 pins for the match. Messenger was high scorer for Displaymen, rolling 184 in the first game. McFarland's total of 505 for the three-game match was the highest.

Meredith was high scorer for Anthonys, bowling 213 in the second game. Dripps, with 422, was high man for the match. Stark rolled 151 in the first game for the Marion County Lumber Co. and gained the title of high scorer among his teammates. His total of 414 was also high.

Harry Wills, the big negro heavyweight whose ring career has been brought to a virtual close by his decisive defeat at the hands of Jack Sharkey, has spent 15 years in the fight game. During this period he is credited with having accumulated a fortune of something like half a million dollars.

Although the Giants have failed to finish in first place for the past two seasons, John McGraw is still far in front among the pennant-winning managers of the two major leagues.

MORRISON AMONG PROMISING OHIO WESLEYAN STARS

Local Youth, However, Faces Tough Opposition at Forward

Merle "Pokie" Morrison, of this city, former Harding High cage star, is one of Coach Ray Detrick's most promising candidates for this year's Ohio Wesleyan basketball team.

Morrison, a junior, is out to win one of the forward berths on this year's quintet. He is forced to compete, however, against two veterans, Berno and Lamme, who are back again this season. Morrison is the lightest man on the squad, weighing only 136½ pounds. He is five feet, eight inches in height.

Prospects for this year's quintet at Ohio Wesleyan are bright. Besides Berno and Lamme, two other members of last season's quintet are back. They are Blickle and Helwig, guards. There are a number of promising sophomores out for the team besides Stone, Crouch and Campbell, of last year's squad.

Following is Wesleyan's schedule:

Dec. 7—Marion Steam Shovel at Marion.
Dec. 10—Ohio State at Columbus.
Dec. 20—Firestone at Akron.
Dec. 21—Goodyear at Akron.
Dec. 22—John Carroll at Cleveland.

COUNTY SEASON OPENS TONIGHT

County Schools Ready for Initial Cage Games

Marion County High School basketball season opens tonight with four games scheduled in various county school gyms in the east and west sections.

In the east, Caledonia will journey to Waldo to open the 1926-27 cage season and Pleasant Township boys' and girls' teams will visit Martel for games with Martel boys and Claridon girls.

In the west, Prospect will invade Green Camp and Morral will visit La-Rue for the lid lifters.

The games are the first to be played under the new league arrangement whereby the county champions will eventually be decided. More interest than ever is being shown in the contests this year, according to coaches throughout the county.

It is eight years since there was a World Series without a home run being made and there have been four such series in all, the others being in 1905, 1906 and 1907.

JIMMY MALONEY CLEARS ANOTHER HURDLE IN PATH

New York, Dec. 3—Jimmy Maloney, Boston heavyweight, today had cleared another hurdle on his path to the heavyweight championship. His 10-round victory over Franz Diener, German heavyweight, in the Garden last night was being hailed by his supporters as further proof that he is one of the leading contenders.

Maloney couldn't put the German away, although he won every one of the 10 rounds by a safe margin.

Second Industrial Round Monday Promises Trio of Exciting Cage Contests

Osgood To Meet Strong C., D. & M. Outfit, Huber Men Tackle Railway Service, and Engineers Will Play Commercial Steel Cagers; High Scorer Gets Sweater

Three exciting contests are scheduled for the second round of the Marion Industrial Basketball League, to be played Monday night, in the Star Auditorium.

Osgood cagers will meet the strong C., D. & M. outfit in the first game. Huber men will tackle the Railway Service crew in the second fray, and the Fairfield Engineers will battle the Commercial Steel five in the final contest.

Jim Dugan has offered a Bradley sweater to the high scorer of the second round, it was announced today. Last week, Thibaut and Mautz Hardware Store awarded a fishing reel to Fried Phillians as high scorer of the first round. Other merchants will offer awards during the entire series.

At present the Osgood, C., D. & M. and Railway Service quintets are leading the league with a victory and no defeats. Fairfields, Hubers and Marion Business College suffered defeat in the first round last week while Commercial did not play.

Both Osgood and C., D. & M. cagers won their games last week by large margins, and, although it is doped that the latter crew has an edge on the Osgood five, a real battle is expected.

Railway Service had a tough battle while downing the Fairfield Engineers last week and may have another hard game on hand when they tackle the plucky Huber outfit. Hubers have been organized only a few weeks and are steadily improving. In spite of the fact that they faced overwhelming odds last week in their game with the C., D. & M., the new comers in the Industrial League showed plenty of pep and snap.

Commercial Lineup

While the exact lineup of the Commercial Steel quintet has not yet been announced, it is rumored that [illegible] the players will be Penry and Appgett of Isaly Dairies. The Commercial five did not appear last week, [illegible] no game scheduled in the first round. When the Commercial men tie up with the fighting engineers, they will [illegible] that they are knocking one of the [illegible] teams in the league. The Fairfield Engineers last Monday lost to Railway Service by only two points although it was thought at first that they would go under in a hurry upon the [illegible] of the Service men.

The Business College five will [illegible] an off day Monday and view the [illegible] games in preparation for their [illegible] with Hubers the following week.

A large number witnessed the Industrial contests last week and a [illegible] number of spectators are expected Monday night. Signs of early rivalry [illegible] already developed.

"Doc" King, of Ohio Wesleyan, [illegible] dled the games last week in fine [illegible] and will have charge of the officials again Monday night.

Why They Parted

"I was down with pain in my [illegible] side which at times almost crazed [illegible] Most all of the doctors said operate. But what I want to tell you is the pain disappeared with the first dose of your medicine and I never see it since. Mayr's has the right name—sour stomach and dyspepsia have left too." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. He was a pupil of the late Andy ...Smith, who made football what it was ...at California. However, Andy was ...more an offensive coach while Young ...might be called somewhat inoffensive, ...considering his record at Pennsylvania. ...His teams have been sound defensively, ...but they lacked punch.

...At that, Pennsylvania might not be ...so anxious to part with Young as it ...was said to be before the Cornell ...game. He got a fourth period tie there ...and this effort may have saved him ...from the guillotine.

Only a day or so after Carnegie ...Tech's notable victory over Notre ...Dame, it was said that Walter Steffen ...would not return in his advisory ca...pacity next season, owing to his ju...dicial duties and other demands on his ...time. His Tech teams haven't been what ...they were and the glory of the past ...often is forgotten in the disappoint...ment of the present. If Alexander ...goes, his passing will be regretted by ...football men throughout the South.

Bezdek and Tad

They say that Hugo Bezdek has out...lasted his welcome at Penn State and ...before the Big Three series Tad Jones ...was under a hot fire at Yale and not ...by "yellow bellies and syster lawyers," ...as Tad himself suggested. However, ...it is considered unlikely that anything ...will come of the Jones matter while it ...is entirely possible that Bezdek will ...hold on, at least for another year.

ALL-AMERICAN GRID CANDIDATES

BY NORMAN E. BROWN

THE Pacific Coast offers, among other possibilities for anybody's all-American eleven, Morton Kaer, "Devil May" Kaer, they call him out there. He's the outstanding star of the backfield of the powerful University of Southern California eleven.

Morton is the perfect type of triple threat man—a good punter, a brilliant passer and a great runner. His versatility as a runner is probably his outstanding asset. The average elusive back of the triple threat type is primarily an open field runner who is at his best on a run around the end. Kaer's best play is a fake dash toward the end and then a sharp cut through tackle.

MORTON KAER

RALPH BAKER

Kaer won all-Western and all-American attention last year.

Ralph "Moon" Baker, main spring of the Northwestern University team, is another Big Ten candidate.

Northwestern's running plays have been built around Baker for three years. He is a brilliant open field runner and in addition is one of the greatest drop kickers in the game. Baker's playing has helped put Northwestern in the running for the Western Conference title this year, his last at the Evanston institution.

Up to the Notre Dame game Northwestern had bested every opponent in yardage gained. Baker's team outgained Notre Dame in yardage from scrimmage plays, but Rockne's forward passing attack gave his team the advantage in total distance advanced.

Central Junior Cagers to Open Season Here Tonight

The Central Junior High quintet swings into action tonight when it meets the Alumni in the first game of the season on the Central Junior gym floor at 7 o'clock.

The Central Junior cagers have been practicing for a month and are ready for battle. Coach Gabler had all new material to work with this year but has rounded an excellent team into shape for the initial contest.

Williams will probably start at center for the Juniors. John Castner and LeRoy Klingle are the likely starting guards. Two sets of forwards will have a tryout tonight. Frank Ruhl and Floyd Wilhelm will probably start the game and will be relieved some time during the fracas by Bill Adams and Hinklin.

The alumni of Central Junior consists practically of all stars of last year's quintet and it will be remembered that last season's cagers ranked among the best in the city. Many of the alumni are out for the Harding High team this year.

John Gillis and Reed will start at forward for the alumni. Spicer will jump center. Snyder and Perry will probably start in the guard positions.

The Central Junior-Alumni contest is always one of the classics of Junior basketball in Marion and rivalry this year is certain to make the battle one of the greatest ever staged on the Central Junior High gym court.

The game tonight will officially open the Junior basketball season in Marion and many more interesting games are promised in the near future.

PROSPECT HI TO MEET BELLEPOINT

Stellar Teams To Battle at Prospect Saturday

What promises to be one of the the greatest games of the season in Marion County High School basketball circles is scheduled for the Prospect floor, Saturday night, when the boys from Prospect, champions of Marion County and runners-up in the Class B Central Ohio tournament last year, will battle the stellar quintet from Bellepoint, for years one of the best basketball teams in Central Ohio.

It will be the second game of the season for Prospect, who opens the season tonight with Green Camp on the Green Camp court. It will also be one of the first games for Bellepoint.

Neither Bellepoint or Prospect had football teams and have had more basketball practice sessions than many other larger schools. Both teams will be in mid-season form and ready to go. Bellepoint's strength this season is not yet known while Prospect claims a great outfit. One of the stellar performers of the Prospect crew is Johnson, six foot and three inches in height, and a whirlwind center. He is a junior in the Prospect high school.

BILLY WALLACE TOUTED AFTER KAYOING KAPLAN

Cleveland, Dec. 3—Billy Wallace, local featherweight, today is being touted for fistic prominence as a result of having knocked out Louis "Kid" Kaplan here last night in the fifth round.

It was the first time that Kaplan, former featherweight champion, had been forced to the canvas for the full count and a crowd of nearly 11,000 is said to have lost a lot of money through the operation.

Kaplan appeared to be over-confident throughout the first four rounds which netted him a slight margin on points. In the fifth, Wallace cut loose with a series of left crosses which landed on Kaplan's jaw with surprising speed. Kaplan finally succumbed to a left hook and took the count.

John Moore, captain of the Elkhart, (Kas.) High School team, tips the beam at close to 300 pounds, and is said to be the heaviest football captain in the country.

The longest goal from placement on record was made by J. T. Haxall of Princeton in 1882. In the Yale-Princeton game that year Haxall booted one for 65 yards.

It is generally believed that the Romans introduced football into England, though the Irish claim that the game has been played in the Emerald Isle for 2,000 years.

RICHWOOD BAPTISTS BEAT MARION TEAM

Fairfield Engineers Finish Fray With Short End of 27-20 Score

Richwood, Dec. 3—Richwood Baptists scored a victory of 27 to 20 over the Fairfield Engineers of Marion here last night. The game was a battle from start to finish with the Baptists having a slight edge on the visitors in the final decision.

Shoup and Rossette were the stellar performers of the local quintet, each chalking up three field goals and a free throw. Lingo was the outstanding Marion player, garnering three field goals and five free throws.

DEACON FLOWERS AND WALKER ARE READY FOR BOUT

Chicago To See Its Most Important Fight Tonight

Chicago, Dec. 3—Chicago is the capital of pugilism today and a wild, fight-mad capital it is.

At 9 o'clock tonight Deacon Flowers of Atlanta, Ga., king of all the middleweights, will step into a ring at the ancient Coliseum here to defend his world title against Mickey Walker, of Elizabeth, N. J.

It will be the most important fight staged here since the rebirth of legalized boxing in Illinois. Twelve thousand wild-eyed fans, all that the creaking old Coliseum will hold, will cluster around.

Flowers and Walker will box ten rounds to a referee's decision. They will scale 160 pounds at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Walker may be a few pounds under. At the gymnasium today he tipped the beam at 157.

As the time of battle drew near, the dusky deacon ruled an 8 to 5 favorite to retain his title. Many freak bets are being made. Some of them are at varying odds that Walker will win by a knockout.

Flowers is admittedly fast and clever, but is supposed to lack punching power. Walker, on the other hand, is a slugger but is not calculated to be as crafty as the battle-scarred Tiger. Those who like the champion's chances point out that a clever ringster always beats a slugger.

Walker Needs Victory

Walker, realizing he has little chance to outbox the shifty champion, is expected to tear into him at the first tap of the gong. The former welterweight champion is a tough, two-fisted fighter without a knockout punch in either hand. Walker has always shown well against southpaws of the deacon's type.

The fact that Walker, as well as his veteran manager, Kearns, are both desperately in need of this victory to save themselves from relegation to the pugilistic boneyard, and that Flowers, casting eyes at Jack Delaney's crown, is just as determined, augurs that a battle royal is in store for the lucky holders of the limited supply of ducats.

Flowers won the middleweight championship from Harry Greb in New York City on Feb. 26, 1926.

END GOLF SEASON AT COUNTRY CLUB

Members May Use Golf Links, However, If They Choose

Although the Marion Country Club golf course was officially closed a week ago, members may take the rounds at any time if they choose, it was said today.

The club house was closed for the season a few days ago but that does not necessarily mean that the course may not be used in case the weather becomes favorable to golf bugs. Last year there were several "sunshiny" Sundays which invited the local golf fans to take the course almost in the middle of the winter season.

During last season, the Marion Country Club was strengthened by the addition of many new members and a greater number will probably be added next season. Interest in the golf pastime has also grown among Marion residents.

Eddie Collins, the White Sox manager mentioned as a possible successor to George Sisler as pilot of the St. Louis Browns, has been working in the big leagues for 20 years. Collins started with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1906 and remained with that club nine years before going to Chicago.

Gene Tunney is an author now, writing the story of how he became heavyweight champion of the world. The sport scribes will write the story of how he lost the title.

Hemorrhoids Go

Piles Disappear Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 1000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent, and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from Bergart-Noble today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and will do the same for you.—Adv.

WORLD TEMPLE OF MEDICINE IS CHICAGO'S PLAN

Propose $25,000,000 Memorial To Open with Centennial in 1933

Chicago, Dec. 3—Chicago laid plans today for an international temple of medicine, the largest in the world, to be constructed at a cost of $25,000,000 as a permanent humanitarian memorial in connection with the 1933 centennial.

The main building would be located according to plans now under consideration on an island in the lake, with convalescent homes placed in forest preserves to the north, south and west of the city.

Statistics showing that Chicago was short from 5,000 to 6,000 hospital beds were cited by Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the centennial committee in presenting an outline of the project to the committee.

The hospital would be supervised by a joint board representing Chicago, Northwestern and Loyola universities, with the governor of Illinois, the mayor of Chicago and the president of the county board as ex-officio members.

"I believe it is the hope of the citizens of Chicago," said Hurley "to make the coming centennial celebration the greatest of its kind in history. Emphasizing service and permanency, we should have an exhibit showing the progress of the world in arts and sciences, industry, commerce, agriculture and every other branch of human endeavor.

"Furthermore, we must capture and present in memorial form a vision of the future and what it holds for the world and I should like to see the centennial promote international friendship. Our coming celebration will lack the vital spark, however, if, in addition to the material things, it fails to develop something of concrete, enduring value to humanity."

"For this reason I should like to propose that we start our 1933 centennial celebration by presenting, as one of the suggested units, a great public health, medical and hospitalization plan and by erecting on the lake front an international temple of medicine, the largest in the world."

Hurley said it should be the most modern institution of its kind in the world in plan, construction, scientific equipment, organization, administration and service, serving as an international clearing house for the scientists and medical men of the world.

"The toll of premature deaths from preventable diseases throughout the world," he said, "is millions of lives every year. The annual cost of drugs, doctors and hospitals in the United States alone is $1,000,000,000. The object of our proposed plan is to establish an international clearing house of health against human disease in co-operation with our government and the governments of the world."

Hurley proposed that leading physicians, surgeons, dentists and medical scientists of each nation of the world be invited to Chicago for the centennial to hold clinics and give lectures during a specific week to be assigned to each country.

Chicago Headquarters

"Chicago today," Hurley said, "is the headquarters of the American Medical Association, the American College of Surgeons, the National Dental Association and the American Hospital Association.

"It now has the largest hospital in the world—Cook County Hospital. It has four high grade medical schools, each under the supervision of a well-known university—Chicago, Northwestern, Illinois and Loyola.

"Many of her medical men have established national reputations and have wielded great power in the development of modern medicine and surgery. In what better way can we commemorate our Hundredth anniversary than by presenting, as one of the special features, this great medical and hospitalization plan in the interest of the public health of the world?

CELEBRATE SEVENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Owen Blackmar, 96 and 95 respectively, are pictured at their Columbus, Ga., home, celebrating their seventy-fifth wedding anniversary. Mr. Blackmar personally addressed 1,000 invitations for the diamond jubilee. Mrs. Blackmar was Mary Ann Blood of Worcester County, Massachusetts.

PEACH CUPS

Place pieces of citron in cups and then press nicely cooked rice in, placing pieces of sweetened peaches in at intervals; set on ice until cold; reheat cups just enough to slip rice out onto plates, heap sweetened whipped cream on top and arrange peaches and citron as garnish.

AMUSING HAT DECORATIONS

The woman who is clever with her fingers and has some idea of design may make most amusing decorations for a sports hat. Tiny figures of animals and trees are cut out of fine leather and appliqued to the hat to form a scene. One of the most interesting shows one elephant standing under a palm tree.

PREVENTS SLIPPING

Wind a wide elastic band around each end of the clothes hanger and the clothes will not slip off.

GARNISHES

Appropriate garnishes for the Thanksgiving fowl are: Curled celery, rosy apple, baked apples, parsley, watercress sliced orange or lemon (all served with duck), fritters.

DOUBLE SERVICE

The broiler from the gas range is an excellent rack on which to cool cakes, etc., when they come from the oven.

EAT VEGETABLES

Because of their many valuable properties, vegetables should form a part of every day's diet and should be supplemented by milk and green vegetables, meat, fish and cereals.

Ripe Pineapples, Oregon Pears, Malaga Grapes, Tokay Grapes, Grapefruit, California and Florida Oranges.

Delicious, Grimes Golden, Jonathan Apples.

Vegetables — Hot House Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Green Onions, Peas, Head Lettuce, Leaf Lettuce, French Endive, Celery Cabbage, Parsley, Celery, Endive, Mangoes, Spinach, Cauliflower, Cabbage, Carrots, Parsnips, Jersey Sweet Potatoes.

NEW BOSTON SUBWAY DECLARED NECESSITY

Improvement Association Head Hands Out Recommendations To Build City

[illegible] Dec. 8 —Boston must have [illegible] declares Raymond P. [illegible], president of the United Improvement Association and a Boston "booster."

Here are Mr. Delano's recommendations to make Boston the third largest city in the world:

1. Build a tunnel between the North and South Stations.

2. Extend the Grand Trunk Railroad to Boston.

3. Intensive development of the port of Boston and creation of a Greater Boston.

"With proper development of its resources this city could easily be made the third largest city in the world," declares Mr. Delano. "Boston is reaching out and growing. It is slowly, perhaps, but surely meeting its needs.

"An era of optimism has dawned. It has been marked by a shaking off of the old lethargy and by a period of accomplishment which is bound to increase.

"The banking interests, which for years helped develop business all over the country and the world, are waking up to the fact that Boston is a sound place in which to invest depositors' money.

"Improved conditions are reflected in the building boom. Office and industrial buildings, factories, docks, stores and homes are springing up on all sides. There has been a decided jump in business.

"As to subways, Boston needs and is bound to have a third tunnel intersecting the Washington and Cambridge tunnels and extending from the South to the North terminal. A trifle less than a mile in length, this tube has come to be a necessity.

"Experts, metropolitan and local, are at work on a comprehensive street planning program. Boston is like a gigantic wheel, the rim the suburban cities and towns, the spokes the arteries and the hub the business center."

RAW CARROT SALAD

Scrape skin from raw carrots and grate as many as are needed for quantity of salad required. Arrange lettuce leaves in little nests and put from 1 to 2 tablespoon in each nest. Place small pieces cream cheese in middle of each nest, or little dots of cheese over top. Serve with mayonnaise.

BREAKING IN VESSELS

The inside of new iron utensils should be coated with fresh mutton tallow and allowed to stand a few days until the fat melts, then they should be heated and washed in hot soda water.

NEW DRAINAGE SYSTEM SOON TO BE FINISHED

Shovel Company Installing Sewer Between Its Building and Tracks

The new drainage system being installed by the Marion Steam Shovel Co. between the Hocking Valley tracks and its buildings north of W. Centerest. will soon be completed and will serve both the Shovel company and the railroad.

At present there is no spouting along the edge of the slanting roof of the Shovel buildings and water pours from the roof during every rain. The result is a small lake directly beneath the eaves and between the Hocking Valley tracks and factory buildings.

When the new drainage system is completed the water will be carried away as rapidly as it falls. The Erie and Big Four tracks are already drained by a new sewer system installed this summer along the curb of the platform on the north side of the Union Station.

Two Photographs

Marion Hocking Valley employes are well represented in the current issue of the Hocking Valley Employes' Magazine. Two photographs, one showing the men on Section 15-A and the other showing a carpenter gang, appear this month.

Men who have a place in the section gang picture are Vern Deal, Ralph Kiser, Lawrence McNeal, Ernest Landin, Marvin Deal, Joseph White and Harry Larendlo, foreman.

Those who appear in the carpenter gang are Foreman A. M. Smoot, Robert Chantzl William Barber, Dan Callahan, Earl Lowmaster, A. S. Trautwein, and Burton Trautwein.

A picture of "Fanny", the dog that was guardian of the premises of the north yard office for 14 years before being killed a few weeks ago by a passing automobile, also appears in the December issue. Roy Green and Charlie Westover, operators, were owners of "Fanny."

The pictures were taken by John Zuck, Marion correspondent for the magazine.

Carries Extras

Erie Train No. 8 yesterday carried three extra coaches occupied by steamship passengers enroute to New York.

Children's Warning

"Too Much To Pay" is the subject of an article appearing in a current issue of Timely Railroad Topics published as a warning against the growing danger of children playing on railroad property. The article first describes the penalty the injured child pays by not being able to play games as other children do and then calls attention to the fact that proper warning and proper training by parents and teachers would have saved the wreckage of young bodies, hopes and ambitions.

In the past nine years, the item states, 2,149 boys and girls under 14 years of age have been killed and 2,759 seriously injured while walking or playing on railroad tracks and while jumping on and off trains.

Rail Briefs

R. F. Pierce, traveling freight agent of the Hocking Valley, having offices in Columbus, was a visitor in Marion yesterday.

O. L. Enos, division passenger agent, Kent division, Erie Railroad, was in Marion yesterday.

TO REMOVE IRON STAINS

To remove iron stains from wooden articles, dip the stained part in a saucer or bowl containing a little warm hydrochloric acid. Allow it to soak for a minute, then wash the article and rinse in strong soda and water to remove all traces of the acid.

MARION INSURANCE MEN HOLD MONTHLY LUNCHEON

Lima and Columbus Men Speakers at Meeting in Hotel Marion

Addresses by two men prominent in Ohio life insurance circles featured the monthly noon luncheon meeting of the Marion Life Underwriters' Association held yesterday at Hotel Marion. The speakers were O. N. Young of Lima, Vice President of the State Association of Life Underwriters, and Dr. C. E. Schilling of Columbus, medical director of the Ohio State Life Insurance Co.

Mr. Young gave the principal address, discussing the value of organization and cooperation among life insurance agents. He showed how the standard of any profession or business can be maintained at the highest possible mark through a friendly working arrangement among its representatives. Dr. Schilling, who spoke briefly, also commented upon the merits of organization.

The program was in charge of Fred W. Hoch, president of the local association, with Robert J. Mish assisting as secretary.

Others in attendance were Arthur Miller, J. F. Shriver, Allen D. Shoneman, Avery M. Davis, E. G. Siefert, Irvin C. Knickel, W. L. Schweinfurth, A. E. Rinehart, W. B. Strayer, O. H. Scott, Elmer L. Weimer, Wooster B. Denman, O. V. Messenger, B. E. Swope, C. L. Van Arsdell, Lawrence Kerns, J. F. Dombaugh, C. G. Bloomingdale, F. N. Trupe, R. G. Williamson and R. E. Prettyman.

The next luncheon meeting will take place the second Thursday of January.

CHILD GETS SICK CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

Look at tongue! Then give fruity laxative for stomach, liver, bowels

"California Fig Syrup" can't harm children and they love it

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Fig Syrup" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious, "fruity laxative", and it never fails to effect a good "inside cleansing". Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup", then see that it is made by "The California Fig Syrup Company."

Have you a built-in ironing board in your home? You'll never know the convenience of this feature until you've installed one. Tell your husband you want one—and then keep right after him.

If you are planning to replace your present heating system or build, by all means get complete information about the Ideal Furnace. That's a friendly tip from us that will mean money and satisfaction to you.

The biggest thrill we get out of the lumber business is the knowledge that we have pleased another customer. We can't please everybody, we know that; but that fact doesn't hinder us from trying.

Have you your Christmas shopping done? Neither have we.

Mother—"Willie, you have been fighting. Why you've lost your front teeth!"
Willie—"No I ain't, mother. Here they are."

A great big car swept by, in a cloud of dust. "That car raises a heap of dust," remarked a by-stander.

"No wonder," said a man who knew the owner, "It's dragging a mortgage on an 80 acre farm."

"You can't qualify as a leading citizen until you get blamed for everything."

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

...came pretty near not having to ...school today which was Friday. ...all down on the pond slid... ...it would be time to skin out to ...hool, and a freight stopped, like ...always do to get the highball to ...ead into town, and Bunt had a ...ce on his slay and he said he ...ut it through the grabiron on ...e of one of the cars and ride his ...e whole length of the pond till ...s the dams and then let go. I ...m not to, but Feeble said for him ...and do it.

...said it was time Bunt done ...ing for the world, and she was ...ing him but he didn't know it. ...put his rope through the grabiron ...there on his slay for a long ...singing onto the end of it, and ...the train started, and it is down ...hardest the city, and she was go... ...and swift before Bunt got to ...am, and then he let go, but the ...the end of the rope caught in ...and it jerked Bunt and the slay ...the dams and onto the railroad ...before he could get sense enough ...go, and if it wasn't for a switch ...of drug him under the train. ...hey hit the switch and that jerked ...apart, and he laid there so close ...train that if he had moved two ...the wrong way he would of got ...

We all skun out to him and I got to him first and yanked him out of the way, and when I seen he wasn't hurt and was only scairt I stood him up and went around behind him and gave him a skate in the pants that about lifted him off the ground. Then we all took our slays and left them in my yard and hiked to school. Jubilee went along and kept looking up in my face and listening to what we all said about Bunt, and so did Bunt, but he didn't have any more to say than Jubilee did.

After school we went to my house for the slays and we got a plank on two sawhorses and played pirate, and blindfolded each other and made them walk the plank, and while I was blindfolding the Lost Bag of Tripe Butch and Bunty put a tub of water at the end of the plank and he walked into it and sot down just as my aunt opened the door and looked out, and she sent them all home and made me go in. I could hear them singing, "How cold I am!" to the Lost Bag of Tripe till they got quite a ways off.

My father told me that if the Lost Bag of Tripe's father came over and complained he was going to tan me. I was kinda uneasy even a long time after I went to bed. Jubilee whined to show me he was sorry for me, and that made it worse, because I was afraid he would whine too loud.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

...was one of those rather warm, ...days which come now and again, ...in December, when Christmas isn't ...away. Had Uncle Wiggily lived ...toward the North Pole he would ...have had to hop through snow. Had the ...gentleman rabbit lived nearer the ...Southland, he would not have had ...a thought to Jack Frost.

But as it was, Uncle Wiggily lived in ...part of the country where it gets ...December; only, as I have said, ...was a warm day and the wind was ...on the bunny's pink nose.

"I think I shall hop me to the woods ...look for an adventure," Uncle Wiggily said to himself. "And I'll go before ...forty-seven little bunny children—...twelve counting Baby Bunts—I'll ...before they get home from school to ...me into taking them out to look ...more Christmas trees."

Uncle Wiggily hopped to the woods ...finding a smooth, mossy log on ...to rest himself, he sat down under ...tree, as it happened. I hope you ...know what grows on an oak ...besides leaves and bark, or else you ...not understand what is soon going ...happen. But I think you will.

Anyhow, Uncle Wiggily sat himself ...upon the log and, all of a sudden ...saw Jennie Chipmunk, the little ...creature who was a distant cousin ...Johnnie and Billie Bushytail. She ...Jennie was scampering up the ...of the oak tree.

"Hello, Jennie!" called Uncle Wiggily.

"Hello, Uncle Wiggily," answered the ...chipmunk girl, but she did not ...

All of a sudden, a little while after ...something fell with a bounce down ...the tree and struck Uncle Wiggily on his head, or on his "pate", as Uncle Wiggily would say when she went ...as you have read in the story. He ...thought the sky had fallen.

"Dear me!" exclaimed the rabbit. "I wonder what is dropping down on me?" Hardly had he spoken when a lot more ...nuts fell, and, after they had bounced off Uncle Wiggily's head and his pink ...he looked to the ground where ...had landed and saw—yes, you have ...guessed it, acorns. A lot of acorns fell ...the oak tree.

Down they clattered, banging the rabbit gentleman in many places, and he ...Jennie Chipmunk scampering ...around in the branches and Uncle Wiggily cried:

"Oh, Jennie! I'm surprised at you!"

"Surprised at me?" chattered the chipmunk. "Why so?"

"Pelting me with acorns in this way," went on bunny. "You have hurt my pink ...very much."

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, I didn't do it at ...!" said Jennie. "I am being pelted up here where I am as much as you are ...down where you are. You see this oak tree kept its acorns very late this year, but now with the warm day after the cold frost last night, and with the wind to blow them, the acorns are falling. Really I'm not dropping them on you! I'll come down and you will see that they'll fall just the same."

Surely enough, when Jennie sat beside the bunny gentleman on the log, the acorns were blown down and pelted them both. So Uncle Wiggily knew Jennie hadn't done it and he asked her forgiveness for thinking she had surprised him.

Then Jennie scampered home, taking a few acorns with her to make a cake, leaving Uncle Wiggily alone on the log. And as he sat there along came the Bob Cat with his silly little tail.

"Ha! I have surprised you; haven't I?" snarled the bad chap, as he sat close beside the bunny so he couldn't get away.

"Yes, this is twice I have been surprised today," answered Mr. Longears, but he didn't tell what the first surprise was. Then all of a sudden, when the Bob Cat was going to nibble the bunny, some acorns fell down and pelted the bad chap hard upon his head.

"Oh, Jennie, I'm surprised at you!"

"Who is doing that?" he snarled, looking up into the tree. But he could see no one, for no one was there. And more acorns fell, banging the Bob Cat in his eye, so he snarled. "Well, I'll fix you all right. I'll climb up there and scratch you, and then I'll come down and nibble Uncle Wiggily!" So the Bob Cat climbed up into the oak tree thinking he could scratch whoever was pelting him with acorns, but he couldn't scratch the wind; could he? And no sooner did the Bob Cat climb up into the tree than Uncle Wiggily ran home. And when the Bob Cat came down he was greatly surprised. And if the automobile doesn't start turning somersaults when the pussy cat wants a ride, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the brush fire.

Don't Let a Cough or Cold 'Go Down'

If you let a cough get down into your bronchial tubes or lungs, it stops being merely a nuisance and becomes a real danger.

Quickly and unfailingly Ayer's Cherry Pectoral goes straight to the seat of danger. Real medicine, reaching deep with its soothing, healing power, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes of your throat and bronchial tubes.

If you are catching cold; if you have a "head cold"; if your chest is tight; if you have a cough—even if bronchitis has developed—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! Keep your cold from going down into the danger zone.

Cherry Pectoral is pleasant, safe and dependable—for children and grown people. At all druggists—60c; twice as much, $1.00. 1b04b

New California artichokes came onto the market this morning and are selling for 15 cents each. Very little of this vegetable has been available for some time. Other California products are also on the way east at this time. Endive is now here, and is selling for 20 cents a pound. New peas will arrive next week. The price on them is not known.

Oranges are very plentiful, with the Florida variety holding the most of the market now. Fancy Florida oranges are selling as high as 60 cents a dozen. INDUSTRIAL BONDS SHOW STRONG TONE ON MARKET

Leaders in Moderate Upward Trend Included Steel and Copper Shares

New York, Dec. 3—Industrial stocks displayed a strong tone today in every department. The leaders in the moderate upward movement included the steel and copper shares, the oil, the specialties and a few of the rails.

Though professional trading accounted for the bulk of the market's activity, the commission houses reported a considerable volume of outside demand for the stocks which have been acting well in the current movement.

Outside of the stock market, the developments in the financial district were somewhat mixed. Crude rubber spurted from one to two cents a pound in response to the new stabilization plan. Cotton declined to the lowest price of the year with January breaking under 12 cents for the first time in 10 years. French francs marked up a new record with their advance to 3.91 cents, compared to 1.97 cents to the franc in July.

Some tightening up of reserve bank conditions was seen in the weekly statements, but this represented chiefly the increase in retail mercantile business, a cheerful sign at this time of the year. Call loan rates were unchanged at 4 1-2 per cent.

Conspicuous strength was exhibited by the high-priced industrials and specialties which have been in the forefront of the upward movement since the middle of November. Baldwin Locomotive more than made up its 3 1-2 point dividend. United States Steel sold about a point higher. General Motors was in good demand above 142 and Woolworth above 193.

$25,000 SOUGHT BY HUSBAND OF CRASH VICTIM

Harry S. Bailey Files Damage Suit Against C., D. & M.; Outgrowth of Accident

Two damage suits were filed in common pleas court this morning, with a total of $30,000 damages sought.

One suit for $25,000 against the C., D. & M. was filed by Harry S. Bailey, husband of Libbie E. Bailey, who died of injuries claimed to have been suffered in an automobile crash with a traction car at Otis-st grade crossing on March 2, 1925. Bailey filed the suit as administrator of his wife's estate.

The petition charges the traction car was traveling at a high rate of speed contrary to city ordinance, and that it failed to sound a warning. Mrs. Bailey was riding in a machine driven by Glenn Bailey, at the time of the accident.

The second damage suit, for $5,000 was filed against Simon Hackworth by Ida Salinas, mother of Elaine Esparso, 7, who suffered injuries in an automobile crash at Lee-st and Silver-st on Oct. 28, 1926. The girl suffered a cut across the face under the right eye when the machines crashed, the petition says, and she is disfigured permanently by the wound, it claims.

Hackworth is charged with failure to observe the stop sign on Lee-st, and with traveling at a high rate of speed. The girl was riding with her mother at the time of the crash.
